City sales tax decision facing Malden voters

MALDEN — Voters will go to the polls Tuesday to elect a mayor and to vote on a proposed one- cent sales tax which would provide needed revenue for the operation of the city.

A mayor will be elected to serve the remaining three years of the unexpired term of G. H. Anderson, who resigned earlier.

The voting places will be as follows: wards one and two, city hall and wards three and four, community room of Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation building. Polls will open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

A four- way contest to fill the unexpired term of Anderson is now a three- way contest with the withdrawal of Evan Burge. Burge, who operates a neighborhood grocery at 500 N. Edwards St., said that he had second thoughts and decided to withdraw.

The contest is now among Sparrel Davis, Les Heise and Harold White.

Davis, who operates an insurance and real estate business, is a former mayor. He was defeated in his bid for re- election by Anderson in April 1973. Davis has been active in civic affairs and has worked to help get the senior citizens transportation system for this area. He is currently serving as president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Heise owns and operates a farm chemical business. He, has also been active in civic affairs. He served several terms as a member of the Malden School Board and the Dunklin County School Board. Presently, he is serving as chairman of the community building committee.

Whige is a native of Malden and is employed at the Federal- Mogul plant. This is his first time to seek office.

Voters will also decide on a proposed one cent sales tax to provide additional revenue for the city to overcome mounting costs of operation.

Growing pains have created a financial problem and, in order to keep pace, city officials have proposed the sales tax.

A seven- point program for which revenue from the sales tax will be used has been chosen:

Water lines for the western and northwestern portions of the city in keeping with the expected growth. Sewers for the Spoonerville area, North Marion, East Laclede, North and South Beckwith and northeast portion of the city.

New fire station and equipment to be located east of railroad plus equipment needed for present fire station and volunteer firemen.

New access road from industrial park to J Highway, quick access roads to new Highway 25 bypass, maintain Highway 25 from J north to Pittman Road and improve sub- standard streets throughout the city.

Retirement program for city employes and combat of the present inflationary trend.

Industrial growth and new industry.

Airport improvements.

Adequate recreational facilities within walking distance for every citizen.

In addition to this seven-point program, city officials say that unless the sales tax is approved that it may become necessary to cutback some of the basic services provided by the city — such as fire and police protection, street maintenance, etc.

Storm kills 4, hurts 100

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — A tornado ripped through this east Arkansas town of 12,500, killing at least four persons, injuring more than 100 and causing widespread damage.

There was still some confusion early today over the number of persons killed. Officials feared the number would rise as rescue workers combed through the shoulder-high debris that remained of a 45,000 square-foot Gibson's discount store and a 25,000-square-foot supermarket, both of which were filled with shoppers when the tornado struck Thursday evening.

State police said they had confirmed four deaths. Forrest City police and the St. Francis County sheriff's office said at least six persons were killed.

State police also said they confirmed that 48 persons had been admitted to Memorial Hospital at Forrest City and that 17 other persons were admitted to hospitals in Memphis, Tenn. In addition, more than 50 persons were treated at the Forrest City hospital and released.

A spokesman said most of those hospitalized at Memphis were in critical to severe condition.

State police also said 150 to 250 homes had been destroyed. Earlier reports said 350 homes had been destroyed and as many as 2,000 suffered at least minor damage.

Hospital officials identified two of the dead as Inez Spears, 19, and Loyce Jean Smith, 17. Both women were found in the Gibson store debris.

About 150 of the city's homeless were being housed at the Washington Street Community Center.

Lt. Bill Lawson of the state Military Department said Gov. Dale Bumpers had ordered 50 National Guard members from the Forrest City area to go on duty to prevent looting.

A junior high school was heavily damaged and an elementary school was reported demolished.

Lightning strike causes blackout

Lightning struck the city steam plant on N. West St. about 4 p.m. Thursday, plunging the downtown area into darkness.

The lightning burned a control cable in two, according to Dick Inman, director of the Board of Municipal Utilities.

It took workmen about two hours to repair the damage, he said.

The power outage affected mostly downtown stores, the police station and city administrative offices. Residences along the circuit were also without power.

Power in smaller areas of town were also knocked out by lightning strikes during the storm, Inman said.

Court allots $14,000 for city road repairs

BENTON — The Scott County Court announced Thursday that during the month of June it will give $14,000 to the Sikeston, Chaffee, Oran and Illmo special road districts to be used for the repair of roads.

Hess Porter, Scott County Treasurer, informed the court that he has received a $3,340 check for interest collected from the county revenue time certificate of $100,835 on deposit at a county bank.

He also said he received another check of $2,909 for interest received on the special road and bridge funds time certificate of $100,000.

3-car traffic crash injures Kennett man

KENNETT — A three- car accident at 4:45 p.m. Thursday one and one- half miles south of Kennett resulted in one minor injury, according to the highway patrol.

The accident occurred on Highway 25 when a northbound car driven by Wanda Wiseman, 36, of Kennett was struck in the rear by another northbound car driven by Michael Wayne Stone, 17, of Kennett. She Stone car was then sideswiped by a car driven north by James Chambers Mason, 48, of Kennett.

A spokesman for the patrol said the Wiseman and Mason autos ran off the west side of the road into a ditch and the Stone auto ran off the east side of the road.

Mason, the only one injured, was treated and released from Dunklin County Memorial Hospital.

Beardsley hopes to keep dogs chained at night

It has become common practice among some dog owners in town to keep their dogs penned or chained during the day, but then turn the dogs loose after 5 p.m., when the humane officer has gone home.

It is a practice Humane Officer Bob Beardsley hopes to change. He will no longer work days only, but will also work some nights.

Beardsley said dogs without tags will be put up for adoption if not claimed within 48 hours.

If a dog has been picked up and its owners have been warned before, Beardsley said he will sign a complaint against the owners.

Anyone reclaiming their dog in the pound must pay an impoundment fee of $1.50 a day, buy a city dog tag, and get the dog vaccinated.

The city tags cost $3 and vaccination about $4.

Anyone adopting a dog must also get tags and shots for the dog. Adoption fees depend on the dog's size, ranging from $1 for a puppy to $10 for large dogs.

Most dogs Beardsley picks up are not reclaimed by their owners, possible because owners are afraid of getting a court summons if they retrieve their pets, Beardsley said. Beardsley picks up an average of 12 dogs a day.

Most of the dogs adopted from the pound are taken by people living outside Sikeston. That makes him happy, Beardsley said, because he does not have to worry about picking up the dogs again.

Projects eying federal funds to be reviewed

MALDEN — Projects requesting federal funds will be reviewed by the review and comment committee of the Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council during a meeting scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission office.

Scheduled for review are nursing home projects in New Madrid and Malden, nutrition program for women, children and infants and a statewide model project program.

Lightning sets tool shed afire

Lightning struck and set fire to a tool shed on the Herbert Bird farm, Highway 61 Sough, about 9:45 p.m. Thursday.

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said lightning ignited rafters of the shed. The fire, which was quickly extinquished, caused only minor damage.

The building reportedly was full of seed. The farm is located one mile south of Sikeston on Highway 61.

Henning announces for Madrid treasurer

MOREHOUSE — O. D. "Ode" Henning of Morehouse announces his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for treasurer of New Madrid County in the Aug. 6 primary election.

Henning has been employed by Standard Oil Co. in Sikeston and Portageville as agent and district supervisor. He also owned and operated a general merchandise store and wholesale gas and oil business.

For eight years, Henning has been field supervisor for the Missouri State Tax Commission.

In announcing his candidacy, Henning says he is active in church and civic groups and county, state and national politics. He says, If elected I will "conduct the office in a fair, honest and impartial manner."

Summer school begins Monday

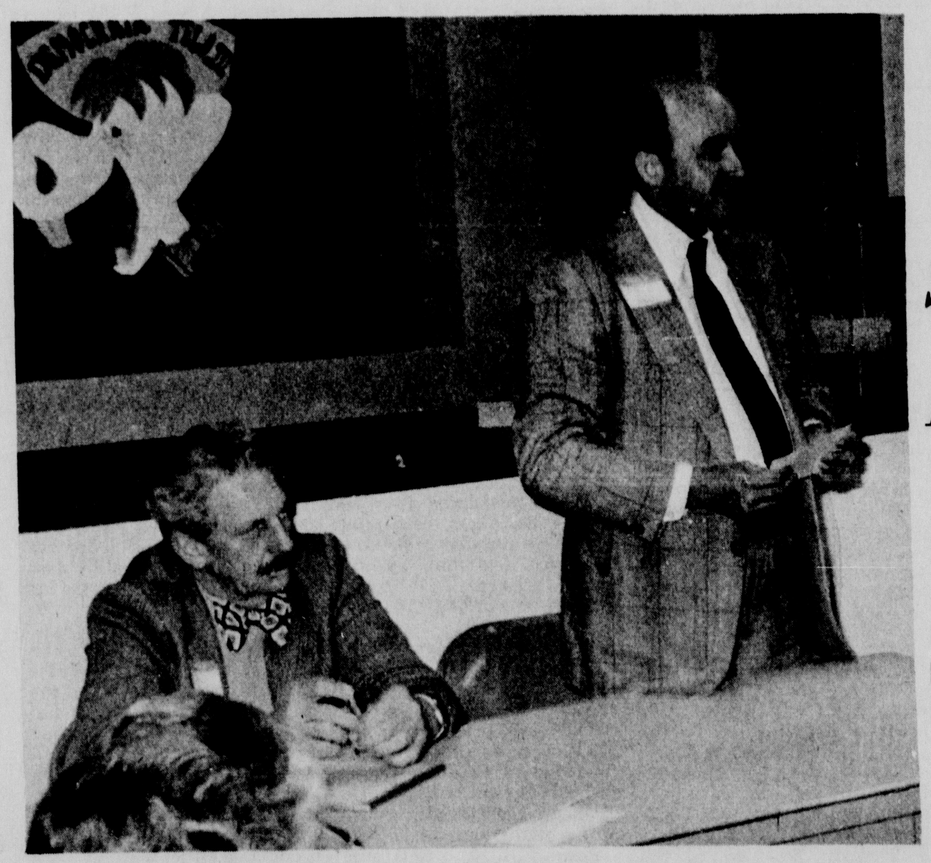

NEW MADRID -- Summer school classes for grades one through six begin Monday and will continue through July 22.

The program will provide instruction in reading, math and social studies. Crafts and physical education plus library, health and counseling services will be included.

The daily program will run from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Lunch will be served before students are dismissed.

Buses will follow the same routes as last year; however, routes will be adjusted if necessary to pick up those students participating in the program.

A driver education class will also begin Monday at the high school. Students must be 15½ years old in order to enroll. Students who have not signed up for the class and wish to do do may call the high school.

Nacy explains telethon procedures

State director calls for pre-telethon preparation

"The Democratic telethon is a great opportunity for Democrats. It is vital that we as Democrats do everything in our power to help keep our area Democrats in government," said Dick Nacy of Jefferson City, executive director of the State Democratic Committee, said Thursday night.

Nacy spoke to members of the Southeast Missouri Democrats for the national Democratic telethon during a meeting at the former city administration building, 316 S. Kingshighway.

Nacy, who explained telethon procedures to the organization, said there were two phases involved in the telethon. The first, he said, is the actual telethon and the second is pre -telethon.

"Two weeks before the telethon is when most of the work will be performed," Nacy remarked. Nacy gave local members 5,000 telethon envelopes so they could begin requesting donations.

The group should also have several volunteers begin June 17 calling local residents in the evenings at their homes, he said "All donations received in this manner must be reported to the national committee by June 28," he remarked.

First National Bank of Sikeston has volunteered to furnish its telephones for use during the telethon, which is scheduled for broadcast June 29 -30 by CBS. Nacy said.

Southeast Missouri Democrats for the telethon will conduct a road block during the telethon as another way to collect money.

Dick Flotron of Festus, Southeast Missouri coordinator for the telethon, explains how all funds collected are to be distributed. The national Democratic party will receive a third, the state Democratic party will receive a third and the remaining third will be divided among Scott, Mississippi, New Madrid and Cape Girardeau counties.

Nacy told the Democrats that two -thirds of all the pre -telethon money will be returned to the state. "Of each $100 collected, the county will get back 44 cents" Nacy explained.

According to Nacy any expenses incurred in conducting the telethon can be deducted. "Just send a list of the expenses to the national committee and you will be reimbursed," he remarked.

Scott, New Madrid, Mississippi, and Cape Girardeau county Democrats are currently organizing receiving stations for the telethon.

SMOKING AND WOMEN

Evidence of the special dangers to women and their offspring from cigarette smoking is mounting.

It has been known for more than a decade that women who smoke cigarettes bear children with a lower average birthweight than babies born to non-smokers. And a report by the Public Health Service last year said that about 4,600 stillbirths in the United States annually probably can be attributed to the smoking habits of the mothers involved. The figure is equal to about two- thirds of all deaths from accidents of Americans from 1 to 14 years old.

Now a British study has concluded further that physical and mental problems transmitted to unborn babies by their smoking mothers tend to stay with the children at least 11 years after birth.

English scientists, as reported in the February 1974 issue of the British Medical Journal, tested several thousand children of mothers who smoked during pregnancy in their 7th and 11th years. Those children whose mothers had smoked 10 cigarettes or more daily were physically smaller than their peers and, as a group, scholastically behind their schoolmates. especially in reading and mathematics.

These findings are even more alarming when it is noted that smoking is on the rise among women. "The lung cancer death rate for women had doubled in the past 10 years, reflecting a sharp rise in women's smoking," the American Cancer Society reported recently. Dr. Luther L. Terry, former Surgeon General and now consultant to the Society, added that smoking is also on the rise among young people, especially teen-age girls.

A promising community- wide anti-smoking program in San Diego County during the past eight years has shown that youngsters can be taught not to smoke if the pitch is tied into a total program of esthetics and protecting the body from pollution, rather than just a pitch emphasizing the health hazards.

We urge our community and educational leaders to consider such a program. The stakes are too high not to take action.

Passage of the Equal Rights Amendment has been placed in jeopardy by the actions of two states -- Nebraska and Tennessee -- which have voted to take back their approval. Tennessee, the latest to withdraw its previous support, has now concluded that the amendment would deprive women of existing privileges instead of bestowing on them fresh liberties. While some proponents argue that a state can't rescind ratification, Prof. Charles Black of Yale University Law School insists that "a state can change its mind either way before the amendment is officialy declared to be ratified."

PENNY SHORTAGE SOLUTION

There is reported to be a shortage of pennies.

If the states are too concerned about that, they might help solve the problem by eliminating the 3% and up sales taxes most of them have the retailers collect. Most of it is collected in pennies and that's where most of our pennies go.

THE PLASTIC ECONOMY

According to Money & Credit latest report, one of the real dangers in our artificial economy is the abuse of plastic credit cards, especially the bank cards entitled "Master Charge" and "BankAmericard." These two giants in the bank credit-card field divide the bulk of the business; at the end of 1973 Master Charge had 31.3 million cardholders while BankAmericard had 26 million. Moreover, observers say the uptrend in credit-card usage is continuing this year.

Now, what is really the problem? The problem, simply put by Money & Credit, is that in an age of inflation we are always running out of cash. So what do we do? We use credit cards every chance we get so that we can stall paying bills for a while. Plastic credit cards initially eases the pain in stretching paychecks which do not always keep up with inflation, although any abuse of this habit puts one in a difficult position with large payments coming on - stream at the beginning of each month.

To illustrate, last year more than $13.8 billion of goods and services, along with cash advances, found their way on bank cards, well above the $10.5 billion in 1972. Now, more than 11,000 of America's 14,000 banks offer the two major bank cards. At the end of 1973, according to the Fed, bank-card credit outstanding totaled $5.6 billion -- which is close to the total of retail store credit outstanding of $6.5 billion.

Last year, credit-card holders changed their habits somewhat by stepping up borrowing more than seasonally -- which is attributable to inflation. Of course, the interest rate on bank-card advances, generally 1 per cent a month, or at the annual rate of 12 per cent a year, has become more attractive as other interest rates have sharply risen. But what happens when this quick way to get funds to meet needs brought on by inflation is used up? Where does one go when there is no more credit-card credit? Supposedly, customers are handling the product extremely well to date, but let us see what happens this year. Moreover, although they are in the minority, some card-carrying customers are fighting inflation by spending less.

Tighter use of cash has not been the dominant American way of life in the past, but an inflation like the one we are going through right now does funny things to people. And one of them is a desire to both spend and save -- to finally realize that if real income is not keeping up with inflation, then spending has to be cut back. The lesson here is to avoid running up big bills, since inflation cannot bail you out.

EDUCATION LIGHTS THEIR DARK PATHS

Time was when few intellectually - gifted blind students were able to realize their full academic potential. Some works were available in Braille, but scarcely enough to prepare a student for a career, and the learning process was extremely slow.

With the advent of Recordings for the Blind, Inc., a number of years ago, however, every career became a possibility for the dedicated blind student. And instead of having to attend special schools for the handicapped, blind students began graduating with honors from such prestigious schools as Harvard, Princeton, Columbia and M.I.T.

The list of noted blind alumni includes lawyers, authors, a computer systems designer and one of the nation's top research mathematicians.

Today, almost all of the 3,500 blind students in accredited American colleges are pursuing academic careers with the aid of RFB recordings taped by reading volunteers, some of them famous. By 1976, the organization anticipates a demand for 140,000 bonks on tape - twice the number circulated in the 1972/73 academic year.

It costs about $2 million annually to run Recordings for the Blind, whose tapes are made available to blind students without charge. Of this, some $1.5 million is raised through traditional philanthropic channels and the rest by voluntary personnel in the 27 recording cities where RFB has facilities.

With so many youths today forfeiting a college education, voluntarily or involuntarily because of money or other reasons, it is impressive to find one group scaling possibly the most difficult hurdle of all to achieve a degree.

SMOKERS BURN BUT 'BUTTLEGGERS' PROFIT

There are a lot of smokers in New York City who don't like the city's two - year - old cigarette tax law. But, says Tax Foundation, Inc., there are a lot of crooks who do.

The July 1971 measure raised the price of the individual pack from one to four cents, depending on nicotine and tar content, and City Council sources estimate that illicit sales by "buttleggers" now top $13 million a year (tax-free).

New York is the only city in the Empire State with a levy on cigarettes but there are 370 other U. S. cities where a local tax is added to Federal and state taxes. The local taxes grossed $116 million in fiscal 1973.

Tax Foundation also noted that with all states now levying taxes on cigarettes, collections total over $3.2 billion in the fiscal year ended last June.

The highest state tax on a pack of cigarettes is Connecticut's 21 cents. The state's rise of 15 cents over its old rate of 6 cents equals what the tobacco industry says a pack of cigarettes would cost without taxes - 15 cents.

Tarheels Still Lowest

The lowest rate is North Carolina's 2 cents. New York officials say the low tax has made the state a prime source of cigarettes "buttlegged" in higher- taxing areas.

New York led all states in total tobacco products revenues in 1972 with $273.3 million. Califiornia collected $246.6 million, Texas $231.6 million, Pennsylvania $222.6 million.

The Federal excise tax on cigarettes of 8 cents per pack grossed $2.2 billion in fiscal 1973. Per-capita consumption in the U. S. for the period was 135.1 packs up from 131.6 the year before. The average retail price of cigarettes country-wide last year was 41.8 cents a pack.

GROSSLY INFLATIONARY

Political candidates continue to stump the country -- promising much and playing down the cost. But on the basis of a new study of federal finances the Brookings Institution finds that during the next several years the federal government must raise taxes severely, slash federal spending or countenance rapid inflation.

At present tax rates, according to the Brookings study, the federal government is headed for a deficit of $17 billion by 1975 even if the economy is operating at so-called full employment -- a jobless rate no higher than four per cent. Such a deficit under conditions of full employement "... would be grossly inflationary." Not until 1977 does the study expect normal economic growth to produce enough tax revenue to lift the federal government above red-ink spending -- and this only in the event that the government does not start a single new major spending program in the next four years. The 20 per cent increase in social security benefits now under consideration in Congress would wipe out any potential surplus.

By ignoring economic facts and continuing promises of pie-in- the - sky government handouts, most politicians demonstrate utter contempt for the judgment of voters. Whether that contempt is justified will be shown at the polls. If the people choose to follow the spenders, they will have no one to blame but themselves for the ensuing "rapid inflation".

SUCCESSFUL FAILURES

Some of the most successful men the world has ever produced were to themselves failures, for what they wanted most earnestly they could not have and while they could made the world bend to their wills they themselves could not achieve what they desired most. For instance, Alexander the Great conquered the world but he never was able to conquer his violent temper. Napoleon won the undying devotion of millions but the one person he really wanted to love him refused. That was Josephine, his wife. Although Napoleon was passionately in love with Josephine, she never returned his affections. Goethe, one of the greatest poets and writers in the world, really wanted to be an artist and wasted many years of his early life in studying art, in which he had but slight ability. Whistler, the great artist, strangely enough wanted to be a poet, but he realized his lack of ability and turned to art instead. Hans Christian Andersen, whose fairy tales for children won him an unusual place in world literature, could appeal to children through his writings, but personally children would have nothing to do with him. In appearance and manner he was unattractive and replusive to children and they always avoided him.

FUEL, JOBS CURBED BY HIGH TAXES

The leftist anti-profit opinion- molders would have you believe that the big U. S. -based international oil companies pay little or no taxes. Well, the figures for 1973 are in and the biggest U. S. oil company paid 36.7 percent of tis total revenue in taxes.

The fact is that all taxes are paid by the consumer in the final analysis. A business acts only as a collection agency; being unable to print money, a corporation must get its tax funds from consumers, whether the taxes go to state, local national or international tax collectors, or to the workers to be paid by them as taxes.

The same big oil company, Exxon, earned less than 2 cents per gallon in profit on its gasoline. While you, the consumer, paid less than 2 cents per gallon to the investors who risked their funds to provide the jobs, find the oil and build the refineries , tankers, etc., you were paying in direct taxes more than 16 cents per gallon in New York City, more than 17 cents per gallon in Mississippi, more than 14 cents per gallon in California, etc.

That is only a fraction of the taxes paid by the company and by independent dealers in their products, who must all pay state, local and federal taxes on such things as real estate for schools, city and state governments, sewers, welfare, etc. Less than 2 cents per gallon goes as incentive to invest in new jobs, seeking new oil fields, building new refineries, etc. Look at all the jobs and cheaper fuel that would have been profided by the oil companies with only a fraction of that money passed on from the consumer to local, state, federal and foreign tax collectors. WASHINGTON -Watergate Industries held its annual stockholders meeting at the federal courthouse in Washington last week, and Sherlock Springbinder, the chairman ot the board, reported a windfall profit of $2 billion. Watergate Industries is a conglomerate that deals in all aspects of the Watergate affair from providing legal talent to selling memoirs of Watergate personalities.

Mr. Springbinder told the happy stockholders, "The way things are going, Watergate should be one of the best growth stocks of 1974. The legal profession alone has earned $30 million, and very few of the trials have begun. By the time all the indictments are handed down we expect to have 30,000 lawyers working full time on motions. After the trials we will have another 5,000 producing appeals. Estimated net income from this division should bring in $100 million."

There was a great deal of applause.

"Our book division is also showing a great profit. We estimate that everyone involved in Watergate from John Dean to the mail room boy at the Committee for the Re -Election of the President will have a nonfiction or fiction book out by next Christmas. If you include newspapermen, defendants, prosecutors, former White House personnel, former attorneys general, milk producers, ex -CIA men, secretaries and grand jury foremen, we believe there will be 670,000 different books published this year, and the advances alone will come to $20 million in added revenue."

There was more applause.

"The movie rights for Watergate are going very briskly. Robert Redford is working on 'All the President's Men," and several other movie producers are readying projects, including "Gidget Goes to the Watergate,' "Last Tango at the White House,' 'The Tapes of Wrath,' 'Lassie at the Supreme Court,' 'The Life of Bebe Rebozo' and 'Confessions of a Jesuit Priest.'

"Watergate Industries has bought four movie studios, and we now have a record division where we intend to produce the hit expletives from the transcripts."

Springbinder continued: "We also plan to go into TV in a big way if the impeachment trial takes place. We will produce Monday Night at the Senate with Howard Cosell and Frank Gifford, to Tell the Truth with Richard Nixon, I've Got a Secret starring Gordon Liddy and the Six Million Dollar Man with Maurice Stans.

"Watergate Industries is happy to announce it is going into the employment agency business, since it is estimated that there will be 345,890 White House aides looking for jobs in the next 12 months.

"Our congressional subpoena printing plant is now working 24 hours a day, and we just received a multimillion -dollar contract from the House Judiciary Committee which whould keep us busy for two more years."

Springbinder got a standing ovation.

"Are there any questions?" he asked.

"Why aren't there more women involved with Watergate?" a militant stockholder shouted from the floor.

Springbinder answered nervously, "It's true that Watergate was strictly a white male affair, with very few exceptions. We tried to find women who could become involved, but there just weren't any who were qualified. Women don't seem to be physiologically or mentally able to cope with all it takes to be a part of a Watergate scandal."

Blacked -Out Nation? See Countrywide Coal Strike Possible; Dwarfing Recent Energy Crunch

WASHINGTON --With apologies to Shelley, but if winter comes can a nationwide coal strike be far behind? At least one of Dick Nixon's knowledgeable advisers has reported "it is inevitable." If he's correct -- and his record is unimpeachable -- this country will move with the speed of a kabuki dance troupe, sort of frozen slow motion.

Some United Mine Workers (UMW) leaders and their official publication have suggested their 120,000 followers in the soft coal pits prepare for a walkout ranging anywhere up to 16 weeks. Should this develop, it would make the recent Arab oil boycott energy crunch seem like a pesky swiftly fixed flat tire. A nation can do without bread far more easily than it can without coal. Actually --no coal, no "bread" (money) for millions of workers.

It can happen here.

There are few, actually, who would want the burden of the 50 -year -old new miners' president Arnold Miller. Behind Miller is a rank and file looking to him with great expectations, a split membership, some in the old Tony Boyle crowd, some with personal ambition and some who expect his administration which succeded the gruesome old ex -president Boyle to send coal conglomerate profits intact by Rural Free Delivery.

The rank and file is ready to strike --with or without their leaders' approval. They emptied the West Virginia pits for some three weeks beginning on Feb. 26. At the stoppage's climax some 27,000 miners --about 25 per cent of the country's active coal diggers --were striking in protest against cuts in gasoline supplies at filling stations. They cut hard into the supply of critical metallurgical coal desperately needed by the steel mills -some of which had but 18 days supply on hand.

Now, according to steel industry experts, there are "drastic shortages of metallurgical coal," for many reasons including the February -March strike.

And on April 9, a rolling strike began in protest against the firing of two coal diggers for the Florence Mining Co. Soon some 12,000 miners were out for almost two weeks.

Then in District 2 (Alabama) miners quit the pits for a full day in protest against plans by a big power utility to buy coal from the Republic of South Africa. Consensus is that at least 4,000 quit work that day. And more such job actions are planned.

This is the old salami -slicing tactic. Cut down the supply above ground. It's shrewd strategy for the unions. The smaller the supply of coke and steam coal above ground the stronger the union's position while they bargain with the Bituminous Coal Operators' Assn.

The national coal contract expires Nov. 12. But it appears the bargaining actually may soon begin. Until now there has been an exchange of letters between Miller and the Association. Miller and his lawyer Chip Yablonski (the murdered leader's son) want little publicity. Nor do they want government intervention, conciliation, or the White House's Bill Usery.

They've just completed the rounds of 12 regional sound -off conferences covering all districts. They've listened to a thousand rank -and -file demands. They now have a consensus. Winning it from the operators would be simpler than strip mining on the moon.

They're now ready to convene their untempered Bargaining Council the gathering of which would fill a hall. Then they'll face the mine owners.

The determined, but still untested, Arnold Miller hardly is the late John L. Lewis ("Old King Coal" of another vintage). Nor is his rank and file ready to deify him as they once did the old giant. So the report is that, for example, the Bargaining Council will demand an increase in royalties paid by the mine operators into the UMW pension and welfare fund (which was brutalized by the Wall Street collapse of common stock).

At the moment, the owners pay 80 cents a ton. The union reportedly wants $2.50. This would increase the annual payments from $250 million a year to $750 million. There are scores of other union demands. The operators aren't about to sign on any line dotted by the rank -and -file consensus. So it's up to Miller to bring labor statesmanship to the soft coal industry, a mighty sick one not too long ago. It's healthy now but the operators say paying what the rank and file want would make it a terminal case.

Hovering over the negotiations and the inevitable intermittent strikes will be the threat of silent steel mills and browned -out cities. You need coal to run many utilities and even nuclear power plants. So look homeward not Middle Eastward, if you're really worried by an energy crunch. It could go either way.

Note, please, that the UMW chiefs are urging their followers to set up a "special strike account" in the UMW Federal Credit Union for a possible "two -week strike, four -week strike, eight -week strike, twelve -week strike, sixteen -week strike."

So if winter comes, it could get mighty cold and dark.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Milk Scandal Chronology

WASHINGTON --The dairy lobby's $2 million pledge to help re -elect President Nixon was originally timed to influence his decision on dairy import quotas, rather than price support.

The offer was put in writing on December 16, 1970, after the White House hatchetman, Charles Colson, had threatened to "put the screws" to the dairymen for contributing to Democrats.

Two weeks after this written pledge was delivered to the White House, the President adopted the import quotas.

Then the dairy lobby began campaigning for higher price supports, which the White House ordered on March 25, 1971. But before issuing the announcement, according to sworn testimony, the White House demanded a renewal of the $2 million offer.

This is the chronology of the milk scandal, which we have put together from our own investigation. Here are the details:

The milk producers began talking to the White House about campaign contributions in the early autumn of 1970. At a September meeting in Colson's office, the milk producers agreed to put up $10,000 apiece for the Senate races of 11 conservative candidates whom the White House favored.

But the dairy people also contributed to the campaigns of Democrats, who had influence over dairy legislation. When Colson learned about this, he fired off a sharp memo to another White House aide, the late Murray Chotiner, who had been dealing with the milk producers' lawyer, Marion Harrison.

"Would you please check with your friend, Harrison, and tell him if he wants to play both sides, that's one game; if he wants to play our side, it is entirely different," wrote Colson. "This would be a good way for you to condition him before we put the screws to him on imports, which we are about to do."

True to Colson's threat, the White House held up dairy import quotas which the Tariff Commission had recommended. Harrison complained to us that "Colson wanted a one -way street. He wasn't interested in doing anything for our clients."

This upset Harrison and his legal associate, Pat Hillings, who had served briefly as Nixon's successor in the House and had maintained close ties with Nixon. Hillings, therefore, dictated a scorching letter to the President, attacking Colson.

Harrison persuaded him to tone down the letter. The second draft didn't mention Colson, but it reminded the President that the dairymen had contributed "about $135,000 to Republican candidates in the 1970 election" and were now preparing "to contribute $2 million for your re -election."

This was the famous December 15, 1970, letter which put the $2 million dairy pledge in black and white. Hillings said he pulled the $2 million figure "out of the air." It was not intended as a "quid pro quo" he said, but as an "attention getter" to get action for the dairymen.

Colson used the $2 million figure in a memo to President Nixon, however, three months before Hillings put it in writing. In any event, the President adopted the dairy import quota on Jan. 1, 1971, only 15 days after receiving the Hillings letter.

The White House claims that the President never saw the Hillings letter and that the $2 million pledge had nothing to do with his action on imports. The receptant Colson told us that he had sought milk contributions but that he had scolded Harrison and Hillings for linking the money to government action.

The following March, President Nixon, overriding the Agriculture Department, ordered increased milk price supports as well. The public announcement was held up, according to sworn testimony, until the White House received a renewal of the $2 million campaign pledge.

The President's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, who had solicited campaign funds from the milk producers, testified that the public announcement "was, in fact, linked to this reaffirmation of the $2 million pledge."

Meanwhile, Colson sent Chotiner another blistering memo complaining about Harrison and Hillings. "Your friends, Harrison and Hillings, have just run out of string ...with me," wrote Colson. "They are personally abusive --particularly Harrison --not only to -- us but to the secretaries in this office and they're making impossible demands...

"They have so muddied up the present dairy import situation that I almost think there is no way we can help them....I practiced law for ten years in this city and wouldn't think of treating a messenger from GSA the way these guys think they can order the White House around.

"Frankly, in view of the relationship with the dairy industry that is involved, I think that these guys are simply too dangerous to deal with and that they should either be put in their place or cut out of the act altogether.

"They have also refused to help recently in a matter of great importance to us. In sum, they are very, very bad news."

Charleston man bound over

CHARLESTON --Woodrow Anderson of Charleston waived a preliminary hearing Thursday before Magistrate Judge T.J. Brown Jr. and was bound over to Circuit Court on felony charges of burglary and stealing.

Bond for Anderson, who is accused of breaking into a building owned by Owen Stader in Charleston and stealing two cases of laundry detergent, was reduced from $2,5000 to $1,000. He remains in custody in lieu of bond and is scheduled to appear Tuesday in Circuit Court.

A preliminary hearing was scheduled for June 27 for Bobby Tripp of East Prairie, who is charged with felonies of burglary and stealing. Tripp is free on $2,500 bond and is accused of stealing 26 cans of Treflan on May 6 from J.D. Upton.

Attorneys were appointed to represent Willie Dale McMillen and Lloyd Dean of Charleston on felony charges of stealing. Bonds for the two men were set at $5,000 each and they remain in custody. The men are accused of stealing copper wireing from utility poles northeast of Bertrand on June 3. The wiring was the property of the Scott -New Madrid -Mississippi Electric Co -op.

McMillen and Dean were free on $1,000 bonds, posted on prior burglary and larceny charges, at the time of their arrest June 3. The previous bonds were surrendered and the two were returned to custody. Bonds for each on the burglary and larceny charges were reset at $5,000.

Attorneys were appointed Thursday to represent McMillen and Dean on the burglary and larceny charges which stem from the April 20 break -in at a barn owned by W.S. Babb of Charleston and the theft of a five -gallon can of Cobex.

Ronnie McMillen of Charleston, arrested with Dale McMillen and Lloyd Dean, entered a plea of not guilty to the burglary and larceny charges and preliminary hearing was set for June 20. He remains free on $1,000 bond.

Lonnie Edward Schade of Charleston was fined $150 and costs on a driving while intoxicated charge and $50 and costs on a charge of driving while his license are suspended. If Schade does not pay his fines he must serve a 30 -day jail sentence on the first charge and 10 days on the second charge, with sentences to run concurrently.

Henry Vinson was assessed a $150 fine and costs or 30 days in jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated and a $25 fine or 10 days in jail on a charge of no driver's license, with jail sentences to run concurrently if sentences are served.

A 30 -day jail sentence was given Donald Dale Wooldridge of Charleston on a driving while intoxicated charge.

Ethel Sloan was given until Saturday to pay a $26 fine on a charge of violation of the wildlife code or begin serving a five -day jail sentence. Raymond Beck, Larry Crum, Rayetta Crum and Alice Stephenson each paid $26 fines on charges of violation of the wildlife code and a warrant was issued for Erma Brown, who failed to appear on a similar charge.

Warrants for the arrest of Henry Williams of Wyatt, who failed to appear on an improper registration by failure to transfer license charge, and Charles Nathan Rogers of Charleston who failed to appear on a charge of careless and imprudent driving.

Arbery Lee Agnew of rural East Prairie was assessed a $15 fine and costs on a careless and imprudent driving charge and given until Saturday to pay the fine or begin serving a five -day jail sentence.

Other fines assessed included: Homer Terre Barger of Charleston, allowing an unlicensed driver to drive his car, $35; James L. Trendly, disturbing the peace, $32; Thomas L. Stevens of Annapolis, speeding, $35; and Raymond Harris of Wyatt, speeding, $29.

Judge Brown approved an application for limited driving privileges for Vester Vanpool.

Cases continued to June 13 were: Collis Ray Haddock of Bertrand, second offense of driving while intoxicated, driving while operator's license was revoked and leaving the scene of an accident James N. Moore, making false statement to obtain property or credit; Sammy Joseph Bagwell of Poplar Bluff, speeding; James K. Reeves,of Charleston, speeding; Robert Lee Munson of East Prairie, failure to stop at a stop sign; and and account suit for $232.59 brought by Buckner -Ragsdale Co. against A.V. and Ruth Jackson.

The following cases were continued to June 20: Randall Eugene Morse of Mexquite, Tex., speeding; James Randolph Baker of Poplar Bluff, careless and imprudent driving; Fred Kirk Blaza of Vincennes, Ind., speeding; Don Ray Eakins of St. Louis, driving while operator's license was revoked; and John Mark Kressenberg of Paducah, Ky., speeding.

A charge of careless and imprudent driving against Howard Wiley Whitener of Concord, Ark. was continued to July 11, Whitner is accused of driving on the wrong side of the road and causing a fatal accident. A driving while intoxicated charge against Clifford Hugh Vowels of Charleston was continued to Aug. 8.

Default judgment for $75 back rent and possession of premises was awarded Hazel Williams in a suit for possession of property for non -payment of rent brought against Ethel Sloan, who will also pay court costs in the suit.

Earlier this week, John L. Groves was granted limited driving privileges and Raymond C. Bond was fined $14 on a speeding charge.

Puxico woman given sentence

BLOOMFIELD — Connie L. Paris of Puxico was given a 30- day suspended jail sentence and placed on supervised parole fo· six months, after she pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana in Magistrate Court before Judge Koss W. Blomeyer.

The charge was reduced from possession of more than 35 grams of marijuana and of apparatus used in smoking marijuana upon the request of the prosecuting attorney.

The case against Arthur Allison of Chicago, Ill., who is charged with felonious assault and rape of a minor girl under the age of 16, was continued indefinitely until the minor witness for the prosecution can be located.

Doyle Ray Parks of Bloomfield appeared in court on a charge of non- support and paid Mrs. Parks the sum of $50. He was ordered to pay Mrs. Parks the sum of $10 per week and to appear back in court on July 3, to show proof of payment.

The case against Freddy Wiseman, who is charged with tampering with a motor vehicle was continued until June 13. Paul Lincoln Groves, charged with driving while intoxicated, had his case continued until June 20.

Elmer B. Cook was given a 30- day suspended jail sentence and fined $10 for public intoxication.

Steve M. Coffee and Charles R. Ward of Dexter were fined $50 each for possession of intoxicating beverages by a minor.

Rickey L. Nifong entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of failing to stop for a school bus. Trial was set for Thursday

Others paying traffic fines were Roger Edward Stroud of Bloomfield, no operators license, $10, and careless and imprudent driving, $10; and Sharon Fry of Essex, no operator's license, $10.

Paying conservation fines for fishing without a permit were, Peggy Sue Bess, Gregory R. Denning, Betty Jo King and Bobby Earl King. All were fined $5 each. Failing to appear on the same charge was Louis E. Robertson.

Child health conference set

NEW MADRID --A child health conference, sponsored by the New Madrid County Health Department, will be held from 8:30 a.m. to noon Thursday at the Kiwanis Building on Beech Street.

The conference is a continuing service for preschool children who would not otherwise receive such care. All children are given a physical examination, needed immunizations. Permanent records are maintained.

Disease prevention and health education are stressed. When physical abnormalities are found, the child is referred to a family physician for the needed treatment.

REDISCOVERED STEAD NOVEL NOW IN BARD PAPERBACK

"For money," wrote Balzac, "people fight and devour one another like spiders in a pot." The pot, in Christina Stead's brilliant novel HOUSE OF ALL NATIONS, is a private Parisian banking hourse, and the most rapacious spider within its walls is its merciless director, Jules Bertillon. With a bloodless greed he manipulates the bankers, blackmailers, swindlers and playboys who people this rich and intricate novel, until he too is destroyed by the rising tied of economic depression and fascism which signaled the end of a frantic, decadent era, and paved the way for world war.

HOUSE OF ALL NATIONS, first published in hardcover by Simon & Schuster in 1938, was well received by reviewers, many of whom likened the author to Balzac, but it was not until the reissue, in 1965, of Miss Stead's novel THE MAN WHO LOVED CHILDREN, that she was recognized as a major writer. Accordingly, HOUSE OF ALL NATIONS was re-issued in hard-cover by Holt, Rinehart and Winston to a new round of acclaim, and now makes its appearance in a Bard edition paperback, The author's most famous work remains THE MAN WHO LOVED CHILDREN; it is also available in a Bard edition.

HOUSE OF ALL NATIONS by Christina Stead. (Bard 18895. $2.45. 768 pp.)

Kaullens mark 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Kaullen, 122 Maplewood Drive, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary June 1 with a reception hosted by their children -- Mrs. Rita Kerwin of Delia, Kans.; Mrs. Mary Whitfield of Rolling Meadows, Ill.; Mrs. Barbara Marshall of Ste. Geneviewve; and Fred P. Kaullen of San Diego, Calif.

The couple has 22 grandchildren of which 13 were present for the occasion.

The Kaullens were married June 4, 1924 in Immaculate Conception Church in Chicago, Ill.

Their golden wedding celebration began with a mass St. Francis Xavier Church with the Rev. Robert Shumacher officiating.

Organ selections were presented by their granddaughter Marita Kerwin of St. Marys, Kans. She also accompanied her aunt, Mrs. Barbara Marshall as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" during communion.

A marriage banner, especially designed and made by the couple's granddaughter, Jean Kerwin of St. Marys, Kans. was presented for the church service.

A family dinner followed at the El Capri restaurant and the day climaxed with a reception and dance for relatives and friends at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Music was furnished by Danny and the Goldtones.

The serving table was covered with a floor-length gold cloth caught up at the corners with white satin bows.

The three-tiered wedding cake was adorned with white bells and topped with gold numberals "50".

Silver candelabra hold gold candles interspersed with floral arrangements completed the table decorations.

Misses Janet Kerwin of Delia, Kans. and Ann Marshall of Ste. Genevieve were at the guest book.

Out - of - town guests were: Mrs. Kaullen's sister, Miss Catherine Krier of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Fred P. Kaullen of San Diego, Calif.; Miss Cecilia Whitfield of Rolling Meadows, Ill.; Robert A. Kerwin and Mike, Kevin and Pat of Delia, Kans.

A few well chosen words say as much as column

BENTON -A few well chosen words often say more than a whole column, so I'm sharing some excerpts and quotes that illustrate my feelings and philosophies. Sources range from ancient philosophers to today's teens.

The purpose of education is to make us a thinker and creator, with an enlarged capacity for life.

Meta communication says that if three people are talking for one and one -half minutes, 10,000 cues are given, but we pick up only 10 per cent of them, because we're just not aware of what real listening is.

Feelings of personal worth grow best in an environment where individual differences are appreciated.

Meanings are not in the words we use, but in the people who use them.

"I am the only me there ever will be," Society tends to define something's value by its scarcity, so each of us are priceless.

How you treat others depends on what you think of yourself.

Awareness is the capacity to see the world in your own way, not in the way you were told to see it.

The greatest challenge of all is to help children preserve their sense of awe and wonder.

Perhaps one of the distinguishing features of a nurturing parent is the realization that change is inevitable, children quickly change from one stage to another, nurturing adults never stop growing and the world around us never stands still.

"Love is a powerful feeling that releases the potential of one person to strive for his dreams without threat of judgement, to momentarily transcend his need for the need of another, to be patient and not lose his feelings of worth as the struggle to find meaning with the other person occurs as bridges between individual differences are built, and while he bears the loneliness that inevitably exists from time to time when each person must, in order to live his own integrity, take separate ways from the other."

You don't get married to complete yourself, you get married because you have something to share.

Each marriage partner will be different in needs, capacities, values, expectations, because he is a different person, not just because one is a husband and the other a wife, according to "Open Marriage."

"Life is not easy for any of us. But what of that? We must believe that we are gifted for something, and that this thing, at whatever cost, must be attained." Madame Curie

To be nobody, but yourself, in a world which is doing its best to make you everybody else, means to fight the hardest battle which any human being can fight, and never stop fighting. E.E. Cummings.

Life is the capability to relate.

Do not try to be anything but what you are, and try to be that perfectly.

Not everything that is faced can be changed, but nothing can be changed until it is faced.

A man is not hurt so much by what happens as by his opinion of what happened.

Maybe, the underlying message of all of these musings is: Do not try to be anything but what you are and try to be that perfectly.

From "Free Children Movement," "If we believe children are the hope of the future, we must let them develop their talents without limits and boundaries, and give them a chance to be themselves."

Couple argues over names their child will call them

Dear Ann Landers: I an 24 and in my eighth month of pregnancy. My husband and I are having the same argument for the third time, and still we can't get together on a decision. It's over what our child should call us.

Jud was raised in an informal household. He wants the child to call us by our first names. He claims it will remove certain artificial barriers and make the child feel closer to us.

I am against it. I say a child should call his parents Mother and Dad as a matter of respect. Am I right or is Jud? —Nameless

Dear N.: I know parents who trained their children to call them Helen and Jack and the kids turned out just fine. I also know parents who insisted that their children call them Mother and Dad and the kids are plenty messed up.

It's not what your children call you, but how they feel about you that matters. Personally, I prefer Mother and Dad because it helps put the relationship in the proper perspective. Children can have a great many pals, but they can have only one Mother and Dad.

Dear Ann Landers: I've done a great deal of reading, but I've seen nothing on "The Dangers of Marrying an Only Child." If I don't find a book on this subject soon, I just might write one myself.

Why is it that of all the columns written by Ann Landers, you have never dealt with this problem? It exists, you know. I married a woman who is living proof.

The only child desperately needs to be right all the time. Also there's a total disregard for punctuality. The only child is rarely on time. 'I'll be there in a minute," can mean anything from 30 minutes to an hour later.

The "Me First, Mine" syndrome is especially noticeable in the child who never had to share with a brother or sister. The singleton tends to be a joyous receiver but a very poor giver.

My advice to anyone who is considering marriage to an only child is, DON'T. -- Massachusetts Reader

Dear Mass.: Sorry, I don't buy it. I have known only children who have none of the qualities described in your letter, but these same qualities are painfully apparent in children who come from large families.

Generalizations are often wrong. And this one most certainly is.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl, 16, who hasn't too many things to complain about compared with some of the letters I read in your column.

One little thing does bother me a lot and I'd like your opinion. My best friend hangs around with me because she is nutty about my brother. She has told me several times that she's really crazy about Tex and asks a zillion questions about what goes on in his life.

I don't want to lose her friendship, but I hate being used. What do you think I should do? -- Ambivalent in Canada

Dear Am: If all girls who hung around certain friends because they were nutty about their brothers were lined up, they'd reach from Toronto to Quebec City.

This is the oldest story in the world, and usually the brother is on to it. Such girls are viewed as pests if they hang around too much. Most brothers would rather chase then be chased.

What's prudish? What's O. K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet; "Necking and Petting --What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, O. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope.

Former Bell City man earns doctor's degree

Dr. Albert G. Lemmons

PARAGOULD, Ark. — Albert G. Lemmons, 38, president of Crowley's Ridge College in Paragould, recently received a doctor of ministry degree from Rice Seminary in Jacksonville, Fla.

Dr. Lemmons is the son of Mrs. Arch Lemmons of Bell City, Mo., Route One and graduated from Bell City High School in 1955.

He then attended Freed-Hardeman College at Henderson, Tenn., where he earned an associate of arts degree. His senior college work was at Harding College in Searcy, where he received a bachelor of arts degree in 1958. He obtained a master of arts degree from Harding in 1961 and earned a master of religious education degree from Harding Graduate School in Memphis, Tenn., in 1966.

During 22 years of preaching, Dr. Lemmons has conducted more than 200 meetings in over 20 states and has been minister for churches of Christ in Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, Florida and Texas.

From 1965 to 1971, he served as assistant to the president of Freed-Hardeman College and professor of bible and his background includes professional training in public relations, fund-raising, administration and classroom instruction.

Dr. Lemmons is married to the former Patsy Davenport of Chattanooga, Tenn. They have five children, Darla, Gary, Stephen, John and Leigh Ann. Dr. Lemmons became president of Crowley's Ridge College on March 1, 1973, after completing classroom work toward his doctor's degree at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, Tex.

Since assuming the leadership of Crowley's Ridge Academy and College he has worked with the board of trustees and Chancellor Emmett Smith to retire a $1 million bonded indebtedness against the schools. Under his leadership, several areas of service in both the academy and college have been strengthened. Additional improvements are planned in the near future.

He has given time to teaching Bible courses both on the campus and in extension work. Also, he has been active in weekend preaching appointments, gospel meetings, lectureships and workshops and presently serves as interim minister at Slicer Street Church of Christ in Kennett, Mo.

THE BIBLE

138. David Escapes from Saul

Saul urged his servants and even his son Jonathan to kill David. Because Jonathan was David's truest friend, he told David of his father's intention, and asked him to hide in the fields where he could hear Saul respond to a plea for David's life. The next day, Jonathan successfully begged his father to spare David.

So David returned and served Saul as he had done before. But one day Saul hurled his spear at David, who stepped aside and fled. Saul sent messengers to watch David's house and slay him the next morning. However, Michal, David's wife, told him to flee, and she let him down through a window, and he escaped during the night.

Michal placed an image in David's bed so the messengers would not know David had fled. The following morning Michal told the soldiers that David was ill. Saul ordered David's bed brought in so that he could himself kill his son-in-law. When the disguise was discovered, the enraged Saul asked his daughter why she protected David. "...And Michal answered Saul, He said unto me, Let me go; why should I kill thee?" (I Samuel 19:17)

Prayer for Today

from The Upper Room

"Do not be anxious about tomorrow, for tomorrow will be anxious for itself. Let the day's own trouble be sufficient for the day." (Matthew 6:34) PRAYER: Dear God of the everyday personal victories as well as the lifetime triumphs, we humbly ask that Your source of strength always be open to us. In Jesus name. Amen.

CARNEGIE GETTING ELECTRONIC ORGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — A 10-year study about the need for an organ at Carnegie Hall has resulted in the installation during July and August of a five-manual electronic organ. It will be inaugurated at a recital by Virgil Cox Oct. 1.

Earlier attempts to create a large pipe organ for Carnegie Hall were canceled when it was decided that the stage would have to be altered to house it, altering the famed acoustics of the hall.

During 1974-75 there will be a first International Organ Series.

Madrid welfare payments total $222,645.61

NEW MADRID — Welfare payments totaling $222,645.61 were disbursed in May by the New Madrid County Welfare Office, with the greatest portion of that amount paid to families receiving Aid for Dependent children.

According to figures released by Mrs. Laverne Hadder, county director, 884 families with 2,218 children received $110,737 for an average $125.27 check per family.

State supplemental payments of $20,388 were paid to 789 persons who were transferred to the Supplemental Security Income rolls and also were eligible for supplemental payments from the state. A total of 781 persons were transferred to SSI rolls and no longer receive assistance payments from the state programs, but do remain eligible for medicaid benefits from the state.

State supplemental payments only in the amount of $9,144 were paid to 190 persons. These persons were previously on the old age assistance, permanent and total disability, and aid to the blind payrolls and were ineligible for the SSI program.

General relief funds totaling $17,430 were received by 252 families consiting of 274 persons for an average check of $69.17 per person.

Medical Assistance was received by 30 persons who did not receive a cash check but were eligible for medicaid benefits. Nursing care payments to 24 persons totaled $4,040.

Child welfare supervision services were given to 93 children. Equal funds of $537.16 were provided by the New Madrid County Court and state boarding funds for room and board, clothing, medicine, dental care and incidentals for the children.

Food stamp coupons for March valued at a total of $228,720 were received by 1,975 households with 6,762 persons. Of the total amount, $137,903 were bonus coupons.

Giants shoot down Birds in 'breeze'

The San Francisco Giants won in a breeze Thursday. Literally.

Aided by the well-known Candlestick Park wind, the Giants scored seven runs in the fourth inning and went on to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 9-5.

"Candlestick is by far the toughest park to play outfield in the National League," said St. Louis center fielder Lis Melendez.

He lost a fly ball in the wind during that wild fourth inning and it cost the Cardinals three runs. Frustrated over Gary Matthews' wind-blown double with the bases loaded, Melendez noted: "All you can go by is the sound of the ball hitting the bat. It sounded hard hit, so I started back. But the wind held it up and I ran as hard as I could but couldn't get to it."

The wind also pestered St. Louis starter Lynn McGlothen, who held a 3-0 lead until he was blown out in the fourth.

"I had great stuff and when I got that 3-0 lead, I thought I was in control," said McGlothen, a former American Leaguer making his first appearance in Candlestick's wind cavern. "But I just couldn't adjust to the wind. I felt like I had a good, live fastball, but the wind was moving it two or three feet."

In the other National League games, the New York Mets nudged the Cincinnati Reds 4-3; the Houston Astros beat the Montreal Expos 4-0; the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0 and the Chicago Cubs beat the San Diego Padres 5-1.

Mets 4, Reds 3

John Milner hit a tremendous leadoff home run against reliever Pedro Borbon in the eighth inning, lifting New York over Cincinnati.

Astros 4, Expos 0

Lee May hit two bases-empty home runs and Larry Dierker pitched a three-hitter, pacing Houston over Montreal.

Dodgers 6, Pirates 0

Andy Messersmith pitched his second straight shutout with a five-hitter and Ron Cey blasted a two-run homer, leading Los Angeles over Pittsburgh.

Messersmith, 6-1, permitted only five singles while running his scoreless inning streak to 18.

Cubs 5, Padres 1

Don Kessinger and Rick Monday each knocked in two runs to help Chicago and left-hander Ken Frailing beat San Diego.

American League scores: New York 5, Chicago 1; Milwaukee 9, California 7 and Texas 6, Cleveland 2.

Big 8 signs 4-year Orange Bowl pact

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The football champion of the Big Eight Conference will play in the Orange Bowl four consecutive years starting with the 1976 game.

The Big Eight and the Orange Bowl Committee announced the signing of the fouryear pact Thursday. The contract does not prohibit one school from playing in the Miami, Fla., classic two or more consecutive years.

A conference representative will select a team to play in the bowl game in event of a tie for the championship. Big Eight teams not competing in the Orange Bowl will be allowed to play in other postseason games.

In all, Big Eight teams have appeared in the Orange Bowl 21 times and won 11. The Big Eight and Orange Bowl had four previous contracts between 1954 and 1964.

Of the new contract, Big Eight Commissioner Charles M. Neinas said the conference regards "this as a very fine opportunity. The conference championship, which is the goal of every Big Eight team, now takes on even more importance with an additional reward for winning the title."

SeMo State completes grid staff

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — The football coaching staff of incoming Jim Lohr has been completed at Southeast Missouri State University with the naming of Chris George to coach linebackers and defensive backs.

George, who coached the past two seasons at Maplewood - Richmond Heights High School in St. Louis County, was named to the post Wednesday.

His high school teams compiled a 13-5 record. He is a graduate of Beaumont High School in St. Louis and Southwest Missouri State University.

Saluki world record-holders

Southern Illinois University is rapidly becoming the home of world records. Suluki record -holders, from left, are Ivory Crockett, 100 -yard dash (:09.1); Bill Hancock, decathlon high jump (7 -1); and George Woods, a Sikeston High School product, shot put (72 -2 ¾).

Crockett SIU's third world record-holder

CARBONDALE, Ill. --When Ivory Crockett broke the world record in the 100 -yard dash recently, it caught all but a few friends off guard.

Among those who were expecting Crockett to eclipse the world sprint barrier were his friends, former coach and teammates at Southern Illinois University.

Crockett's 09.0 timing for 100 yards made the two -time AAU sprint champ, the third past or present Saluki athlete to enter the world record book. George Woods, the NCAA indoor shot put champion at SIU in 1966 from Sikeston, Mo. broke the world record with a 72 foot, 2¾ -inch effort Feb. 9. And Bill Hancock, a Saluki junior from Glasford, Ill., set the world record in the decathlon high jump at seven foot , one inch in the 1973 Kansas Relays.

"The world record caught a lot of people off guard," said Crockett, who works for International Business Machines at Peoria, Ill. "I was ready for it. My wife was ready for it. My coach was ready for it. But the media wasn't ready for it."

On a rainy May 11th at Knoxville, Tenn., Crockett turned in his world record mark, a full two -tenths of a second better than the existing standard of :09.2 set first by Bob Hayes and equally by five others.

"I knew the little guy could do it," said Saluki track coach Lew Hartzog who recruited Crockett out of Webster Groves, Mo., in 1968. "He has worked so hard. When he ran for us he was an unselfish team man.

"I honestly believe the reason he did not make the 1972 United States Olympic team was his dropping the baton in the 440 relay at the NCAA meet. Many lesser athletes would have said 'Oh well, I'm still in the 100.' But not Ivory. He felt he had let three other guys down. And he let it affect performances the rest of that summer," Hartzog recalled.

Crockett hasn't let anything hamper his performances this year. His attitude is similar to that when he was a Saluki.

"My goal was to run the best race I could everytime I ran," said Crockett. "I never wanted anyone to say I gave it less than my very best."

While Crockett arrived destined for greatness, Woods came to Southern Illinois from Sikeston with a hazy future.

"We didn't know until George's sophomore year what his best event would be" Hartzog recalled. "He was a shot putter, but he ran on our relays as a freshman."

Woods, who now works in the admission's offie at SIU's Edwardsville campus, graduated with a 62 -foot lifetime best. Eight years later, after a strenuous weight -training program, Woods has emerged as the best shot putter in history.

Of the three world record holders, Hartzog thinks Hancock has the best potential. He has scored 7,419 points in the decathlon on what Hartzog calls "routine performances. His future is unlimited."

Track isn't the only sport where the Salukis excel. Southern Illinois' basketball program gained national prominence in 1967 when Walt Frazier let the Salukis to the NIT championship.

Brewers' pinch hit drouth ends

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In Milwaukee pinch hitters are as popular as prohibitionists ... and about as successful.

But that was before Mike Hegan.

Hegan, a newcomer to the Milwaukee bench, laced a two run pinch single Thursday, the first successful Brewer pinch hit in 24 attempts this season, and the Brewers dumped the California Angels 9-7.

Elsewhere in an abbreviated American League schedule, the Texas Rangers dropped the Cleveland Indians 6-2 and the New York Yankees downed the Chicago White Sox 5-1.

In a pinch, the last person you'd call on would be a Milwaukee pinch hitter. But California Manager Bobby Winkles left the Brewers little choice.

"I knew they didn't have any right-handed hitters left on the bench but (Bob) Collucio," said Winkles, explaining why he replaced right-hand pitcher Skip Lockwood for lefty John Cumberland in the seventh inning. "I knew Collucio had been hurt and I wasn't sure he was able to hit."

Milwaukee Manager Del Crandall, who later confirmed that Collucio was unable to hit, was forced to send up the lefthand hitting Hegan.

He said his teammates "told me he has a big breaking ball, so I tried to lean up to the plate," said Hegan, recently acquired from the New York Yankees. With their advice, he got his hit.

Rangers 6, Indians 2

Jackie Brown threw a curveballing seven-hitter at the Cleveland Indians, supported by Alex Johnson, who knocked in four runs, two in a three-run Texas seventh.

Yankees 5, White Sox 1

George Medich scattered 10 hits and the Yankees deprived former teammate Stan Bahnsen of his 100th major league victory in his fifth straight unsuccessful bid.

Schlee says opening round 66 was in stars

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Curly haired John Schlee wasn't surprised that he shot a six-under-par 66 to take the lead after one round of the $150,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic. It was in the stars.

Schlee, 35, an avid student of astrology, hasn't been playing too well this year on the pro golf tour. He is 66th on the money winning list at $20,119 and his best has been a tie for 11th at San Diego.

"I had a bad astrological aspect between Neptune and my rising sign, Aquarius. Neptune is a very slow moving planet. It kind of boggles the mind. It makes it very hard to concentrate," Schlee explained.

The 6-foot-3 Schlee, who describes himself as "the defending runner-up" in next week's U.S. Open, said he has been bored, lackadaisical, unable to concentrate. "At the Masters for example I was eight under on the front side for the tournament and eight over on the backside," Schlee said.

So what's different now at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club? The bad astrological aspects are gone now, Schlee explained. "It left two weeks ago. June has always been a good month for me. I'm a Gemini."

It was in June last year that Schlee started the final round of the U.S. Open at Oakmont tied for the lead. He finished second when Johnny Miller fired a course record 63 to win.

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 7, the 158th day of 1974. There are 207 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, the Pacific War battle of Midway ended in a major American victory over the Japanese.

On this date:

In 1654, the coronation of Louis the 14th as King of France took place at Rheims.

In 1769, Daniel Boone began his exploration of the Kentucky wilderness.

In 1862, the United States and Britain signed a treaty for suppression of the slave trade.

In 1864, President Abraham Lincoln was renominated by a Republican convention in Baltimore.

In 1940, in World War II, organized resistance against German invaders ended in Norway.

In 1967, in the Middle East Six-Day War, Israeli forces drivinginto Egypt reached the banks of the Suez Canal.

Ten years ago: A U.S. Navy plane escorting reconnaissance aircraft over central Laos was shot down by Communist-led forces. It was the second American plane downed in two days.

Five years ago: The military government in Greece said it had quashed a plot by highranking retired army officers to overthrow the regime.

One year ago: West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, on a visit to Israel, denounced what he called the suffering and horror of the Nazi prosecution of Jews.

Today's birthdays: Singer Tom Jones is 34 years old. Poet Gwendolyn Brooks is 57. Violinist Jaime Laredo is 33.

Thought for today: In Faith and Hope the world will disagree, but all mankind's concern is Charity — Alexander Pope, English poet, 1688-1744.

New Hamburg tops Scott City, 8-1

NEW HAMBURG– The New Hamburg Falstaffs climbed over the .500 mark for the season Wednesday by pounding out a solid 8 -1 triumph over Scott City in SeMo Softball League combat on the home field.

Ken Cargle let New Hamburg's victory attack with three of nine total hits. The Falstaffs broke the ice with three runs in the third inning to wipe out a 1 -0 Scott City lead, then added four markers in the fifth and two final tallies in the seventh to boost their season record to 4 -3.

Scott City's lone run came in the second, as New Hamburg's Orville Enderle limited the visitors to three hits, one a triple by Larry O'Brian. Enderle also struck out five and walked only one. Kirby, the losing hurler, fanned four and issued the same number of walks.

New Hamburg will return to action tonight with another home game against Sikeston, weather permitting.

Oran rallies for 4-3 softball win

CAPE GIRARDEAU –Oran pushed the tying and winning runs across the plate in the top of the seventh inning Wednesday for a 4 -3 victory over the Cape Girardeau Jets in SeMo Softball League action.

The Jets had taken a 2 -0 lead in the first inning and held the upper hand most of the game until Oran's winning rally in the seventh.

Oran matched the Cape team's first two runs with single tallies in the second and fourth frames, but the 2 -2 tie was brief as the Jets came back with a run in the botton of the fourth for a 3 -2 lead they held until the seventh.

Robert was the winning pitcher for Oran, in relief of starter Schott whom he replaced on the mound in the fourth. Together they limited Cape to six hits and struck out three.

Meanwhile, Dirnberger, Metz and Dannenmueller cracked two hits apiece and T. Halter drilled a triple to spark Oran's nine -hit assault and pin the mound defeat on Eckert, who led the losers at the plate with two hits and struck out seven Oran batters.

Indoor bowhunting opens

Indoor bowhunting competition began Tuesday at Six Gold Archery Lanes, 603 Davis Blvd. Bow hunters shot rounds at simulated deer, bobcat, and weasel targets from various positions and distances.

The competition is the beginning of the Fred Bear Sports Club -Archery Lane Operators Association Indoor Bowhunter Round. The hunter's round method helps bowhunters make accurate shot placements; according to Six Gold manager Bruce Tanner. He says hunters in the league should be able to shoot well by the time of the archery deer season beginning Oct. 1.

PCA . . . the go ahead people

The ice cream sundae, one of today's most popular ice cream desserts, was born in Evanston, Illinois because of a strange law. When a law was passed forbidding the sale of ice cream sodas on Sunday, local merchants got around it by serving ice cream with just syrup. The "sodaless soda" came to be known as a "Sunday" but then objections arose naming a dessert after the Lord's Day, so it became known as a sundae, but it, like the soda, was not banned.

Something that homemakers like more than an ice cream sundae, a Miracle Water Refiner, was born not because of any law, but to create clean, refreshing sparkling water throughout your home. The Miracle Water Refiner not only softens, it cleans, removes taste and odor such as chlorine and it filters your water as well. Once you see and enjoy the difference, you will never want to go back to ordinary tap water. Your cooked foods will taste better, your floors and walls will sparkle, your laundry will smell fresher, be softer and cleaner. Call Braswell and find out more about this modern wonder today.

Watch what happens...

Your family, like most, is experiencing a little pinch with the high cost of living. Your idea has been to round up a number of items around the house that you no longer need, but which you know would be valuable and useful to someone else.

And your idea now is to call the Classified Department and place an ad offering these items for sale.

Now . . . watch what happens!

In a day's time you'll begin receiving phone calls from people interested in buying the things you no longer need. And before you know it, you'll have that little extra cash in your hand we can all use.

That's exactly how it happens to lots and lots of homemakers . . . every day!

Bond to speak at dedication of Kennett center

KENNETT -- Gov. Christopher S. Bond will the principal speaker at dedication ceremonies Thursday for the Southeast Missouri Community Metal Health Center in Kennett.

The special ceremony, marking the first -year anniversary of the center's opening and the completion of a major $2.5 million expansion program at Dunklin County Memorial Hospital, will be held at 3 p.m. on the grounds of the county medical facility.

Arrangements for the Governor's visit to Kennett were completed by hospital officials. Gov. Bond will deliver an address at the ceremony, which will feature tours and an open house at the hospital and mental health unit.

Officials from throughout the area served by the mental facility will be invited to attend the special ceremony, as well as state and area officails and legislators.

Gov. Bond will be in Southeast Missouri during much of the day. Present plans call for him to speak at a Poplar Bluff Jaycee meeting following the dedication ceremonies at Kennett. His speech in Kennett will focus on public health care.

Taking part in Thursday's ceremonies will be John Howell, chairman of the hospital's board of trustees, Administrator Dale Christian, other members of the board of trustees, and the Rev. Paul Harland.

Christian, who is handling details of the ceremony, emphasized that the public is invited to attend and take part in the hospital -center tours and open house.

In the event of rain, the dedication ceremony will be held at the American Legion Building.

Unemployment claims spliced

JEFFERSON CITY --Claims for unemployment insurance were down from the April figures, reflecting a seasonal trend of higher employment during summer months, according to William S. Harris, director of the Missouri Division of Employment Security.

Harris said continued claims totaled 155,295 in May, down more than 24,000 from April. Initial claims were up slightly over last month as the result of labor disputes in the construction industry.

Benefits payments in May, according to Harris, totaled $8,207,617, compared to $8,123,351 in April. The average benefit checks in May was $53.97.

Unemployment insurance benefits for May included Cape Girardeau, $113,942; Caruthrsville, $25,404; Kennett, $41,233; Poplar Bluff, $129,693; and Sikeston, $122,717.

State could save bundle yearly on auto plates

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A switch in the method of putting reflectorizing material on auto license plates could save the state $600,000 a year, Revenue Department officials contend.

Revenue Director James R. Spradling has called a hearing June 18 to discuss the possible change with Raymond P. Hogg, director of Prison Industries, and Highway Patrol Supt. Sam S. Smith.

Prison Industries, which makes 6 million plates a year, is ready to order a new shipment of metal and sheets of reflectorizing material.

For the current plates which have a light, reflectorized background with dark lettering, the cost is 13 cents per plate.

For a glass-beaded process with raised, reflectorized lightcolored lettering on a non-reflectorized dark background, the cost would be 3 cents a plate, said Russell Sloan, assistant revenue director in charge of motor vehicle licensing.

Studies have shown, Sloan said, that identification at night is better with the reflectorized letters and numbers. Studies also have shown in Virginia, he said, that the accident rate is about the same with reflectorized plates as opposed to non-reflectorized plates.

Reflectorized plates have been used in Missouri since 1969 and the 3 M Co., has held the contract. The 1969 law says either the numbers or the background can be reflectorized.

If the department goes to the new plates, Sloan said, they first would be used on trucks and probably wouldn't be sold to car owners until next year.

The order for 6 million plates that were not reflectorized at all ran to $69,000, Sloan said, compared with $808,000 for the current plates and $200,000 under the proposed change.

The current method was approved in 1969 by former Revenue Director James Schaffner, former Highway Patrol Supt. E. I. Hockaday and former Prison Industries Director Arthur O. Williams.

Sloan said he didn't know whether the former officials were aware of the less expensive method.

Lt. Col. Dick Gehrig, assistant Highway Patrol superintendent, said the patrol has no preference and would accept either method. He and Smith have seen samples of the new plates.

The safety and identification factor was a controversy in the legislature in 1969 and finally, legislators decided to let the three state officials select the reflectorizing method. The cost of the plates were increased 50 cents apiece to help pay for the reflectorizing material.

Dale Findlay, executive director of the Missouri Safety Council, said most states reflectorize the entire license plate and he prefers that system.

"It makes the plate more visible at night for safety and identification," he said.

He said the "beads on paint" method, with just reflectorized lettering, tends to pick up dirt and grime, obsuring the letters and numbers.

"I think it wise that they evaluate it carefully before switching," he said.

Under the current system, the reflectorized sheeting is applied, the letters and numbers are stamped in the plate and the plates are painted and baked. Then the numbers are painted on and the plates are baked again.

Under the new process, which takes a few more steps in the prison license plate factory, the black metal is painted and baked. Then the numerals are stamped and painted.

The reflectorizing beads are sprinkled onto the wet paint on the numerals, and the plates are baked. A clear coat seal is applied and the plates are baked again.

The savings would be in the amount of reflectorizing material needed. Hogg said the inmates could handle either process although more work would be involved in the reflecterized lettering process, proposed by the Flex-O-Lite Co. of St. Louis.

World news in brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — A visibly angry federal judge said today President Nixon's refusal to live up to an agreement over access by John D. Ehrlichman to files he left behind in the White House is "totally offensive" and "borders on obstruction."

The comment from U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell came at the end of a 2 1/2-hour hearing, ordered by Gesell, that could lead to a contempt citation against the President.

Gesell adjourned the session saying that he intends to write an order and opinion bearing on Nixon's refusal to yield documents subpoenaed by Ehrlichman.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon considered giving lie detector tests to several hundred thousand federal employes during a 1971 hunt for security leaks, says a House Judiciary Committee source. In a taped presidential conversation heard by the committee, Nixon reportedly discussed giving the tests to all employes with a security classification, estimated then to be 300,000. There is no evidence they ever were administered.

WASHINGTON (AP) — During the 1960s, the United States conducted a crash program to beat the Russians in putting a man on the moon. Now, American space officials have evidence that the Soviets never were in the race. Their manned spaceship, the Soyuz, has less capability than the U.S. Gemini craft of a decade ago. It is almost totally controlled from the ground and could not make a lunar trip.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A substantial proportion of the 979 Soviet officials assigned inside the United States have been identified as intelligence operatives, FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says. Kelley said the Soviet Union continues to carry on an intensive political, military and economic intelligence gathering effort in the United States. He said the FBI is reassigning more agents in an attempt to counter the intelligence operatives.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The FBI hunted fugitive heiress Patricia Hearst today as a suspected bank robber after her indictment in the April holdup of a San Francisco bank by the Symbionese Liberation Army. The armed robbery indictment returned by a federal grand jury Thursday in U.S. District Court changed Miss Hearst's status in the April 15 holdup from material witness to suspected felon.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bail was set at million today for a teen-ager charged in the abduction of a socialite who was released unharmed four hours after she was kidnaped Thursday. Authorities said $60,000 in ransom money was recovered. The FBI was searching for two others wanted in the abduction of Mrs. Jack M. Friedland, 43, from her suburban estate. Frank Wyatt Jr., 18, the son of Philadelphia policeman, was taken into custody while walking down a South Philadelphia street after the ransom was paid.

NEW YORK (AP) — Most of the nation's major oil companies are dipping into their record profits to boost employe salaries. One company is giving workers a bonus of a month's salary. An Associated Press survey shows that Exxon, Mobil, Standard of California, Continental, Standard of Indiana, Shell, Atlantic Richfield, Union and Mobil are raising the paychecks of nonunion U.S. employes. Some are offering the boosts to union employes as well.

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — A tornado ripped through this east Arkansas town of 12,500, causing deaths, scores of injuries and widespread damage. Early reports from officials on the death toll ranged from two to eight.

Tips offered to insure safety of youngsters

JEFFERSON CITY - Col. Sam S. Smith, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol today reminded drivers that schools have been dismissed for the summer and children will be near or on every street in every city in Missouri.

Drivers can help insure youngsters a happy and carefree summer vacation by accepting their responsibility in the safety of children, he said.

The patrol superintendent noted rules that drivers should follow in regard to the safety of youngsters in traffic:

Be alert for children in all residential areas, at all times of the day.

Use extra caution when a young bicyclist is in the traffic picture. He or she may turn into your traffic lane without warning.

Be watchful for children when wagons and other toys are seen near the side of the road. The sound of shouts and laughter can also serve as a warning to drivers that youngsters are close by.

Expect the unexpected. It's not unusual for a child to suddenly dart into traffic from between parked cars.

"It is very distressing to hear of a child being killed or injured in a collision with a motor vehicle," Colonel Smith concluded. "I urge drivers to observe all the rules applicable to the safety of our young citizens this summer."

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat, corn and soybean futures were relatively strong in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

On the opening, Chicago wheat was 1 to 5 cents a bushel higher, July 3.65; Gulf hard red wheat was not traded; corn was 2 to 3 1/2 higher, July 2.78; oats were 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, July 1.36 and soybeans were unchanged to 3 3/4 higher, July 5.39 1/2.

Benefit cut-off opposed

WASHINGTON D.C. -- Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton has introduced legislation to prevent any cutoff June 30 of food stamp benefits to aged, blind, and disabled Supplemental Security Income recipients.

Eagleton said that if congress takes no action prior to June 30, inequitable and administratively cumbersome provisions of the Agriculture and consumer Protection Act of 1973 will go into effect July 1.

Eagleton said this law would have the general effect of disqualifying those SSI recipients with the lowest incomes. "It would be a most unfortunate result for thousands of low-income aged, blind, and disabled persons who, in these inflationary times, need and deserve every bit of assistance they can get," Eagleton told the senate.

The Eagleton proposal, introduced in the form of an amendment to the public debt limit bill, would extend for an additional nine months the present provisions in Missouri and 44 other states. SSI recipients are now ineligible in California, Massacusetts, Nevada, New York, and Wisconsin, which had previously agreed to provide cash payments in lieu of food stamps.

The public debt limit bill, now pending before the Senate Finance Committee, must be signed into law by July 1.

4 treated

Four accidents patients were treated Thursday in the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Treated were: Raburn Evans, 20, Sikeston, ran right arm through glass door; Ramona Fitchpatrick, 19, Sikeston, injured in car accident; Thomas Linley, 21, East Prairie, cut left hand at work; and Harold Graviett, 28, Vanduser, sprained left wrist playing ball.

LOOK TO CBS FOR FAMILY SPECIALS

CBS TELEVISION NETWORK AND CTW PRODUCTIONS, SUBSIDIARY OF CHILDREN'S TELEVISION WORKSHOP, TO DEVELOP PRIME-TIME FAMILY SPECIALS

The CBS Television Network and CTW Productions, Inc., a subsidiary of the Children's Television Workshop, today announced a long- term exclusive arrangement for the development of prime- time family dramatic specials.

According to the Children's Television Workship, CTW/P is expected to be a profit- making subsidiary and all revenues derived from it will revert to the non- profit parent company to defray costs of their other educationally- oriented television programming.

The specials are expected to be all- family in appeal, as was the case with such well- received CBS Television Network dramas as "The House Without a Christmas Tree," "A Thanksgiving Treasure," "The Homecoming" and various special episodes of "The Waltons."

GAME—OF—WEEK

The California Angels, whose strong- armed pitching staff leads the American League in strikeouts, and the Detroit Tigers, with Al Kaline closing in on 3,000 hits, meet at Tiger Stadium Saturday, June 8, in NBC Television Network's Major League Baseball Game- of-the- Week starting at 1 p.m. CDT.

NBC-TV's Monday Night Baseball colorcast June 10, featuring celebrity guest Dick Williams, pits two junior circuit clubs that Williams managed to pennants -- the Oakland Athletics and the Boston Red Sox at Boston's Fenway Park. Game time is 7:15 p.m. CDT, following "The Baseball World of Joe Garagiola" which starts at 8.

Curt Gowdy and Tony Kubek will be in the NBC broadcast booth both Saturday afternoon and Monday night. Jim Simpson and Maury Wills will do the backup contests: Saturday's will match the Minnesota Twins and New York Yankees at Shea Stadium, with the Philadelphia Phillies meeting Houston in the Astrodome Monday evening.

The Tigers, in the thick of things in the tight AL East, are a veteran ball club with the likes of Kaline, Norm Cash, Mickey Lolich, Bill Freehan and Jim Northrup. California, its mound corps headed by flamethrowing Nolan Ryan and Bill Singer, has another sure- fire Hall of Famer in designated hitter Frank Robinson.

The A's, World Champs the past two years under Williams, who resigned last fall in an ill- fated attempt to take over the Yankees, are led this season by hot- hitting Reggie Jackson and the always reliable pitching of Jim "Catfish" Hunter. Boston, managed to a pennant by Williams in 1967, has been beset by a rash of early-season injuries but still has been a pace- setter in the East.

KOJACK: A SURPRISE WINNER THAT BEAT THE TV ODDS

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The returns are all in and the ballots have been counted. There's no longer any doubt — the biggest hit of the '73-'74 TV season, by far, is CBS' Kojak. It couldn't have happened to a more surprising show.

SAVALAS AS KOJACK: He's got to believe.

The Telly Savalas series was in the Top Ten most of the season and hit the No. 1 spot several times. And all this for a show which started out with two strikes against it.

One was a real strike — the writers' strike of last fall which delayed all the new shows, but particularly Kojak. Because of that it was the last new show to hit the home screen last season, not appearing until the end of October.

The other strike against Kojak was the fact that its star was an unlikely leading man. Telly Savalas is far from handsome, not young, completely bald. And yet there seems to be something about him — and his show — the public adores.

One problem Kojak faced was that, by the time it got on the air, there already had been a dozen or so cop shows holding forth in the TV precincts. Maybe that turned out to be in its favor. At the time it seemed an insurmountable handicap. The public had already gotten acquainted with cops and private eyes in all shapes, sizes and colors.

But what Kojak had, as it turned out, was something the others didn't have — quality. It sprang from a first-rate movie-for-TV, "The Marcus-Nelson Murders," which was good enough to have been a theatrical feature.

"Kojak is honest," Savalas says. "If some hood has a gun, Kojak will go hide somewhere. If Kojak sees a prostitute on the street, he'll kick her in the rear and tell her to get lost. He'll behave like a real cop behaves, not like some of these TV cop Boy Scouts."

To Savalas, honesty is the key thing in any part he does. He won't accept roles he doesn't believe in. For a long time, he wouldn't consider taking a series lead, but they more or less tricked him into the Kojak deal.

"They did it sneaky," he says. "There was a contingency thing in my contract for 'The Marcus-Nelson Murders.' That forced me to do it if it became a series. I didn't want to do it. I hoped it wouldn't sell. I like variety too much.

"I also like the insecurity of not knowing what I'm going to be doing next week. Being in a series is too secure a life. My father made a million in the tobacco business, then lost it and piled his five kids in a truck and peddled cakes. He was happy broke. So were we."

Telly enjoyed the gamble of an actor's insecure life. Now, despite himself, he's saddled with security. It looks like he's going to be a rich man. Kojak seems to be headed for a long and prosperous run.

City sales tax decision facing Malden voters

MALDEN — Voters will go to the polls Tuesday to elect a mayor and to vote on a proposed one- cent sales tax which would provide needed revenue for the operation of the city.

A mayor will be elected to serve the remaining three years of the unexpired term of G. H. Anderson, who resigned earlier.

The voting places will be as follows: wards one and two, city hall and wards three and four, community room of Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation building. Polls will open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

A four- way contest to fill the unexpired term of Anderson is now a three- way contest with the withdrawal of Evan Burge. Burge, who operates a neighborhood grocery at 500 N. Edwards St., said that he had second thoughts and decided to withdraw.

The contest is now among Sparrel Davis, Les Heise and Harold White.

Davis, who operates an insurance and real estate business, is a former mayor. He was defeated in his bid for re- election by Anderson in April 1973. Davis has been active in civic affairs and has worked to help get the senior citizens transportation system for this area. He is currently serving as president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Heise owns and operates a farm chemical business. He, has also been active in civic affairs. He served several terms as a member of the Malden School Board and the Dunklin County School Board. Presently, he is serving as chairman of the community building committee.

Whige is a native of Malden and is employed at the Federal- Mogul plant. This is his first time to seek office.

Voters will also decide on a proposed one cent sales tax to provide additional revenue for the city to overcome mounting costs of operation.

Growing pains have created a financial problem and, in order to keep pace, city officials have proposed the sales tax.

A seven- point program for which revenue from the sales tax will be used has been chosen:

Water lines for the western and northwestern portions of the city in keeping with the expected growth. Sewers for the Spoonerville area, North Marion, East Laclede, North and South Beckwith and northeast portion of the city.

New fire station and equipment to be located east of railroad plus equipment needed for present fire station and volunteer firemen.

New access road from industrial park to J Highway, quick access roads to new Highway 25 bypass, maintain Highway 25 from J north to Pittman Road and improve sub- standard streets throughout the city.

Retirement program for city employes and combat of the present inflationary trend.

Industrial growth and new industry.

Airport improvements.

Adequate recreational facilities within walking distance for every citizen.

In addition to this seven-point program, city officials say that unless the sales tax is approved that it may become necessary to cutback some of the basic services provided by the city — such as fire and police protection, street maintenance, etc.

Aw, come on dog

Storm kills 4, hurts 100

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — A tornado ripped through this east Arkansas town of 12,500, killing at least four persons, injuring more than 100 and causing widespread damage.

There was still some confusion early today over the number of persons killed. Officials feared the number would rise as rescue workers combed through the shoulder-high debris that remained of a 45,000 square-foot Gibson's discount store and a 25,000-square-foot supermarket, both of which were filled with shoppers when the tornado struck Thursday evening.

State police said they had confirmed four deaths. Forrest City police and the St. Francis County sheriff's office said at least six persons were killed.

State police also said they confirmed that 48 persons had been admitted to Memorial Hospital at Forrest City and that 17 other persons were admitted to hospitals in Memphis, Tenn. In addition, more than 50 persons were treated at the Forrest City hospital and released.

A spokesman said most of those hospitalized at Memphis were in critical to severe condition.

State police also said 150 to 250 homes had been destroyed. Earlier reports said 350 homes had been destroyed and as many as 2,000 suffered at least minor damage.

Hospital officials identified two of the dead as Inez Spears, 19, and Loyce Jean Smith, 17. Both women were found in the Gibson store debris.

About 150 of the city's homeless were being housed at the Washington Street Community Center.

Lt. Bill Lawson of the state Military Department said Gov. Dale Bumpers had ordered 50 National Guard members from the Forrest City area to go on duty to prevent looting.

A junior high school was heavily damaged and an elementary school was reported demolished.

Lightning strike causes blackout

Lightning struck the city steam plant on N. West St. about 4 p.m. Thursday, plunging the downtown area into darkness.

The lightning burned a control cable in two, according to Dick Inman, director of the Board of Municipal Utilities.

It took workmen about two hours to repair the damage, he said.

The power outage affected mostly downtown stores, the police station and city administrative offices. Residences along the circuit were also without power.

Power in smaller areas of town were also knocked out by lightning strikes during the storm, Inman said.

Court allots $14,000 for city road repairs

BENTON — The Scott County Court announced Thursday that during the month of June it will give $14,000 to the Sikeston, Chaffee, Oran and Illmo special road districts to be used for the repair of roads.

Hess Porter, Scott County Treasurer, informed the court that he has received a $3,340 check for interest collected from the county revenue time certificate of $100,835 on deposit at a county bank.

He also said he received another check of $2,909 for interest received on the special road and bridge funds time certificate of $100,000.

3-car traffic crash injures Kennett man

KENNETT — A three- car accident at 4:45 p.m. Thursday one and one- half miles south of Kennett resulted in one minor injury, according to the highway patrol.

The accident occurred on Highway 25 when a northbound car driven by Wanda Wiseman, 36, of Kennett was struck in the rear by another northbound car driven by Michael Wayne Stone, 17, of Kennett. She Stone car was then sideswiped by a car driven north by James Chambers Mason, 48, of Kennett.

A spokesman for the patrol said the Wiseman and Mason autos ran off the west side of the road into a ditch and the Stone auto ran off the east side of the road.

Mason, the only one injured, was treated and released from Dunklin County Memorial Hospital.

The name of this year's star performer is expected to be announced soon.

Beardsley hopes to keep dogs chained at night

It has become common practice among some dog owners in town to keep their dogs penned or chained during the day, but then turn the dogs loose after 5 p.m., when the humane officer has gone home.

It is a practice Humane Officer Bob Beardsley hopes to change. He will no longer work days only, but will also work some nights.

Beardsley said dogs without tags will be put up for adoption if not claimed within 48 hours.

If a dog has been picked up and its owners have been warned before, Beardsley said he will sign a complaint against the owners.

Anyone reclaiming their dog in the pound must pay an impoundment fee of $1.50 a day, buy a city dog tag, and get the dog vaccinated.

The city tags cost $3 and vaccination about $4.

Anyone adopting a dog must also get tags and shots for the dog. Adoption fees depend on the dog's size, ranging from $1 for a puppy to $10 for large dogs.

Most dogs Beardsley picks up are not reclaimed by their owners, possible because owners are afraid of getting a court summons if they retrieve their pets, Beardsley said. Beardsley picks up an average of 12 dogs a day.

Most of the dogs adopted from the pound are taken by people living outside Sikeston. That makes him happy, Beardsley,said, because he does not have to worry about picking up the dogs again.

Projects eying federal funds to be reviewed

MALDEN — Projects requesting federal funds will be reviewed by the review and comment committee of the Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council during a meeting scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission office.

Scheduled for review are nursing home projects in New Madrid and Malden, nutrition program for women, children and infants and a statewide model project program.

Lightning sets tool shed afire

Lightning struck and set fire to a tool shed on the Herbert Bird farm, Highway 61 Sough, about 9:45 p.m. Thursday.

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said lightning ignited rafters of the shed. The fire, which was quickly extinquished, caused only minor damage.

The building reportedly was full of seed. The farm is located one mile south of Sikeston on Highway 61.

Henning announces for Madrid treasurer

MOREHOUSE — O. D. "Ode" Henning of Morehouse announces his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for treasurer of New Madrid County in the Aug. 6 primary election.

Henning has been employed by Standard Oil Co. in Sikeston and Portageville as agent and district supervisor. He also owned and operated a general merchandise store and wholesale gas and oil business.

For eight years, Henning has been field supervisor for the Missouri State Tax Commission.

In announcing his candidacy, Henning says he is active in church and civic groups and county, state and national politics. He says, If elected I will "conduct the office in a fair, honest and impartial manner."

Summer school begins Monday

NEW MADRID -- Summer school classes for grades one through six begin Monday and will continue through July 22.

The program will provide instruction in reading, math and social studies. Crafts and physical education plus library, health and counseling services will be included.

The daily program will run from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Lunch will be served before students are dismissed.

Buses will follow the same routes as last year; however, routes will be adjusted if necessary to pick up those students participating in the program.

A driver education class will also begin Monday at the high school. Students must be 15½ years old in order to enroll. Students who have not signed up for the class and wish to do do may call the high school.

Nacy explains telethon procedures

State director calls for pre-telethon preparation

"The Democratic telethon is a great opportunity for Democrats. It is vital that we as Democrats do everything in our power to help keep our area Democrats in government," said Dick Nacy of Jefferson City, executive director of the State Democratic Committee, said Thursday night.

Nacy spoke to members of the Southeast Missouri Democrats for the national Democratic telethon during a meeting at the former city administration building, 316 S. Kingshighway.

Nacy, who explained telethon procedures to the organization, said there were two phases involved in the telethon. The first, he said, is the actual telethon and the second is pre -telethon.

"Two weeks before the telethon is when most of the work will be performed," Nacy remarked. Nacy gave local members 5,000 telethon envelopes so they could begin requesting donations.

The group should also have several volunteers begin June 17 calling local residents in the evenings at their homes, he said "All donations received in this manner must be reported to the national committee by June 28," he remarked.

First National Bank of Sikeston has volunteered to furnish its telephones for use during the telethon, which is scheduled for broadcast June 29 -30 by CBS, Nacy said.

Southeast Missouri Democrats for the telethon will conduct a road block during the telethon as another way to collect money.

Dick Flotron of Festus, Southeast Missouri coordinator for the telethon, explains how all funds collected are to be distributed. The national Democratic party will receive a third, the state Democratic party will receive a third and the remaining third will be divided among Scott, Mississippi, New Madrid and Cape Girardeau counties.

Nacy told the Democrats that two -thirds of all the pre -telethon money will be returned to the state. "Of each $100 collected, the county will get back 44 cents " Nacy explained.

According to Nacy any expenses incurred in conducting the telethon can be deducted. "Just send a list of the expenses to the national committee and you will be reimbursed," he remarked.

Scott, New Madrid, Mississippi,and Cape Girardeau county Democrats are currently organizing receiving stations for the telethon.

SMOKING AND WOMEN

Evidence of the special dangers to women and their offspring from cigarette smoking is mounting.

It has been known for more than a decade that women who smoke cigarettes bear children with a lower average birthweight than babies born to non-smokers. And a report by the Public Health Service last year said that about 4,600 stillbirths in the United States annually probably can be attributed to the smoking habits of the mothers involved. The figure is equal to about two- thirds of all deaths from accidents of Americans from 1 to 14 years old.

Now a British study has concluded further that physical and mental problems transmitted to unborn babies by their smoking mothers tend to stay with the children at least 11 years after birth.

English scientists, as reported in the February 1974 issue of the British Medical Journal, tested several thousand children of mothers who smoked during pregnancy in their 7th and 11th years. Those children whose mothers had smoked 10 cigarettes or more daily were physically smaller than their peers and, as a group, scholastically behind their schoolmates, especially in reading and mathematics.

These findings are even more alarming when it is noted that smoking is on the rise among women. "The lung cancer death rate for women had doubled in the past 10 years, reflecting a sharp rise in women's smoking," the American Cancer Society reported recently. Dr. Luther L. Terry, former Surgeon General and now consultant to the Society, added that smoking is also on the rise among young people, especially teen-age girls.

A promising community- wide anti-smoking program in San Diego County during the past eight years has shown that youngsters can be taught not to smoke if the pitch is tied into a total program of esthetics and protecting the body from pollution, rather than just a pitch emphasizing the health hazards.

We urge our community and educational leaders to consider such a program. The stakes are too high not to take action.

Passage of the Equal Rights Amendment has been placed in jeopardy by the actions of two states -- Nebraska and Tennessee -- which have voted to take back their approval. Tennessee, the latest to withdraw its previous support, has now concluded that the amendment would deprive women of existing privileges instead of bestowing on them fresh liberties. While some proponents argue that a state can't rescind ratification, Prof. Charles Black of Yale University Law School insists that "a state can change its mind either way before the amendment is officialy declared to be ratified."

PENNY SHORTAGE SOLUTION

There is reported to be a shortage of pennies.

If the states are too concerned about that, they might help solve the problem by eliminating the 3% and up sales taxes most of them have the retailers collect. Most of it is collected in pennies and that's where most of our pennies go.

THE PLASTIC ECONOMY

According to Money & Credit latest report, one of the real dangers in our artificial economy is the abuse of plastic credit cards, especially the bank cards entitled "Master Charge" and "BankAmericard." These two giants in the bank credit-card field divide the bulk of the business; at the end of 1973 Master Charge had 31.3 million cardholders while BankAmericard had 26 million. Moreover, observers say the uptrend in credit-card usage is continuing this year.

Now, what is really the problem? The problem, simply put by Money & Credit, is that in an age of inflation we are always running out of cash. So what do we do? We use credit cards every chance we get so that we can stall paying bills for a while. Plastic credit cards initially eases the pain in stretching paychecks which do not always keep up with inflation, although any abuse of this habit puts one in a difficult position with large payments coming on - stream at the beginning of each month.

To illustrate, last year more than $13.8 billion of goods and services, along with cash advances, found their way on bank cards, well above the $10.5 billion in 1972. Now, more than 11,000 of America's 14,000 banks offer the two major bank cards. At the end of 1973, according to the Fed, bank-card credit outstanding totaled $5.6 billion -- which is close to the total of retail store credit outstanding of $6.5 billion.

Last year, credit-card holders changed their habits somewhat by stepping up borrowing more than seasonally -- which is attributable to inflation. Of course, the interest rate on bank-card advances, generally 1 per cent a month, or at the annual rate of 12 per cent a year, has become more attractive as other interest rates have sharply risen. But what happens when this quick way to get funds to meet needs brought on by inflation is used up? Where does one go when there is no more credit-card credit? Supposedly, customers are handling the product extremely well to date, but let us see what happens this year. Moreover, although they are in the minority, some card-carrying customers are fighting inflation by spending less.

Tighter use of cash has not been the dominant American way of life in the past, but an inflation like the one we are going through right now does funny things to people. And one of them is a desire to both spend and save -- to finally realize that if real income is not keeping up with inflation, then spending has to be cut back. The lesson here is to avoid running up big bills, since inflation cannot bail you out.

EDUCATION LIGHTS THEIR DARK PATHS

Time was when few intellectually - gifted blind students were able to realize their full academic potential. Some works were available in Braille, but scarcely enough to prepare a student for a career, and the learning process was extremely slow.

With the advent of Recordings for the Blind, Inc., a number of years ago, however, every career became a possibility for the dedicated blind student. And instead of having to attend special schools for the handicapped, blind students began graduating with honors from such prestigious schools as Harvard, Princeton, Columbia and M.I.T.

The list of noted blind alumni includes lawyers, authors, a computer systems designer and one of the nation's top research mathematicians.

Today, almost all of the 3,500 blind students in accredited American colleges are pursuing academic careers with the aid of RFB recordings taped by reading volunteers, some of them famous. By 1976, the organization anticipates a demand for 140,000 bonks on tape - twice the number circulated in the 1972/73 academic year.

It costs about $2 million annually to run Recordings for the Blind, whose tapes are made available to blind students without charge. Of this, some $1.5 million is raised through traditional philanthropic channels and the rest by voluntary personnel in the 27 recording cities where RFB has facilities.

With so many youths today forfeiting a college education, voluntarily or involuntarily because of money or other reasons, it is impressive to find one group scaling possibly the most difficult hurdle of all to achieve a degree.

SMOKERS BURN BUT 'BUTTLEGGERS' PROFIT

There are a lot of smokers in New York City who don't like the city's two - year - old cigarette tax law. But, says Tax Foundation, Inc., there are a lot of crooks who do.

The July 1971 measure raised the price of the individual pack from one to four cents, depending on nicotine and tar content, and City Council sources estimate that illicit sales by "buttleggers" now top $13 million a year (tax-free).

New York is the only city in the Empire State with a levy on cigarettes but there are 370 other U. S. cities where a local tax is added to Federal and state taxes. The local taxes grossed $116 million in fiscal 1973.

Tax Foundation also noted that with all states now levying taxes on cigarettes, collections total over $3.2 billion in the fiscal year ended last June.

The highest state tax on a pack of cigarettes is Connecticut's 21 cents. The state's rise of 15 cents over its old rate of 6 cents equals what the tobacco industry says a pack of cigarettes would cost without taxes - 15 cents.

Tarheels Still Lowest

The lowest rate is North Carolina's 2 cents. New York officials say the low tax has made the state a prime source of cigarettes "buttlegged" in higher- taxing areas.

New York led all states in total tobacco products revenues in 1972 with $273.3 million. Califiornia collected $246.6 million, Texas $231.6 million, Pennsylvania $222.6 million.

The Federal excise tax on cigarettes of 8 cents per pack grossed $2.2 billion in fiscal 1973. Per-capita consumption in the U. S. for the period was 135.1 packs up from 131.6 the year before. The average retail price of cigarettes country-wide last year was 41.8 cents a pack.

GROSSLY INFLATIONARY

Political candidates continue to stump the country -- promising much and playing down the cost. But on the basis of a new study of federal finances the Brookings Institution finds that during the next several years the federal government must raise taxes severely, slash federal spending or countenance rapid inflation.

At present tax rates, according to the Brookings study, the federal government is headed for a deficit of $17 billion by 1975 even if the economy is operating at so-called full employment -- a jobless rate no higher than four per cent. Such a deficit under conditions of full employement "... would be grossly inflationary." Not until 1977 does the study expect normal economic growth to produce enough tax revenue to lift the federal government above red-ink spending -- and this only in the event that the government does not start a single new major spending program in the next four years. The 20 per cent increase in social security benefits now under consideration in Congress would wipe out any potential surplus.

By ignoring economic facts and continuing promises of pie-in- the - sky government handouts, most politicians demonstrate utter contempt for the judgment of voters. Whether that contempt is justified will be shown at the polls. If the people choose to follow the spenders, they will have no one to blame but themselves for the ensuing "rapid inflation".

SUCCESSFUL FAILURES

Some of the most successful men the world has ever produced were to themselves failures, for what they wanted most earnestly they could not have and while they could made the world bend to their wills they themselves could not achieve what they desired most. For instance, Alexander the Great conquered the world but he never was able to conquer his violent temper. Napoleon won the undying devotion of millions but the one person he really wanted to love him refused. That was Josephine, his wife. Although Napoleon was passionately in love with Josephine, she never returned his affections. Goethe, one of the greatest poets and writers in the world, really wanted to be an artist and wasted many years of his early life in studying art, in which he had but slight ability. Whistler, the great artist, strangely enough wanted to be a poet, but he realized his lack of ability and turned to art instead. Hans Christian Andersen, whose fairy tales for children won him an unusual place in world literature, could appeal to children through his writings, but personally children would have nothing to do with him. In appearance and manner he was unattractive and replusive to children and they always avoided him.

FUEL, JOBS CURBED BY HIGH TAXES

The leftist anti-profit opinion- molders would have you believe that the big U. S. -based international oil companies pay little or no taxes. Well, the figures for 1973 are in and the biggest U. S. oil company paid 36.7 percent of tis total revenue in taxes.

The fact is that all taxes are paid by the consumer in the final analysis. A business acts only as a collection agency; being unable to print money, a corporation must get its tax funds from consumers, whether the taxes go to state, local national or international tax collectors, or to the workers to be paid by them as taxes.

The same big oil company, Exxon, earned less than 2 cents per gallon in profit on its gasoline. While you, the consumer, paid less than 2 cents per gallon to the investors who risked their funds to provide the jobs, find the oil and build the refineries , tankers, etc., you were paying in direct taxes more than 16 cents per gallon in New York City, more than 17 cents per gallon in Mississippi, more than 14 cents per gallon in California, etc.

That is only a fraction of the taxes paid by the company and by independent dealers in their products, who must all pay state, local and federal taxes on such things as real estate for schools, city and state governments, sewers, welfare, etc. Less than 2 cents per gallon goes as incentive to invest in new jobs, seeking new oil fields, building new refineries, etc. Look at all the jobs and cheaper fuel that would have been profided by the oil companies with only a fraction of that money passed on from the consumer to local, state, federal and foreign tax collectors. Blacked -Out Nation? See Countrywide Coal Strike Possible; Dwarfing Recent Energy Crunch

WASHINGTON --With apologies to Shelley, but if winter comes can a nationwide coal strike be far behind? At least one of Dick Nixon's knowledgeable advisers has reported "it is inevitable." If he's correct -- and his record is unimpeachable -- this country will move with the speed of a kabuki dance troupe, sort of frozen slow motion.

Some United Mine Workers (UMW) leaders and their official publication have suggested their 120,000 followers in the soft coal pits prepare for a walkout ranging anywhere up to 16 weeks. Should this develop, it would make the recent Arab oil boycott energy crunch seem like a pesky swiftly fixed flat tire. A nation can do without bread far more easily than it can without coal. Actually --no coal, no "bread" (money) for millions of workers.

It can happen here.

There are few, actually, who would want the burden of the 50 -year -old new miners' president Arnold Miller. Behind Miller is a rank and file looking to him with great expectations, a split membership, some in the old Tony Boyle crowd, some with personal ambition and some who expect his administration which succeded the gruesome old ex -president Boyle to send coal conglomerate profits intact by Rural Free Delivery.

The rank and file is ready to strike --with or without their leaders' approval. They emptied the West Virginia pits for some three weeks beginning on Feb. 26. At the stoppage's climax some 27,000 miners --about 25 per cent of the country's active coal diggers --were striking in protest against cuts in gasoline supplies at filling stations. They cut hard into the supply of critical metallurgical coal desperately needed by the steel mills -some of which had but 18 days supply on hand.

Now, according to steel industry experts, there are "drastic shortages of metallurgical coal," for many reasons including the February -March strike.

And on April 9, a rolling strike began in protest against the firing of two coal diggers for the Florence Mining Co. Soon some 12,000 miners were out for almost two weeks.

Then in District 2 (Alabama) miners quit the pits for a full day in protest against plans by a big power utility to buy coal from the Republic of South Africa. Consensus is that at least 4,000 quit work that day. And more such job actions are planned.

This is the old salami -slicing tactic. Cut down the supply above ground. It's shrewd strategy for the unions. The smaller the supply of coke and steam coal above ground the stronger the union's position while they bargain with the Bituminous Coal Operators' Assn.

The national coal contract expires Nov. 12. But it appears the bargaining actually may soon begin. Until now there has been an exchange of letters between Miller and the Association. Miller and his lawyer Chip Yablonski (the murdered leader's son) want little publicity. Nor do they want government intervention, conciliation, or the White House's Bill Usery.

They've just completed the rounds of 12 regional sound -off conferences covering all districts. They've listened to a thousand rank -and -file demands. They now have a consensus. Winning it from the operators would be simpler than strip mining on the moon.

They're now ready to convene their untempered Bargaining Council the gathering of which would fill a hall. Then they'll face the mine owners.

The determined, but still untested, Arnold Miller hardly is the late John L. Lewis ("Old King Coal" of another vintage). Nor is his rank and file ready to deify him as they once did the old giant. So the report is that, for example, the Bargaining Council will demand an increase in royalties paid by the mine operators into the UMW pension and welfare fund (which was brutalized by the Wall Street collapse of common stock).

At the moment, the owners pay 80 cents a ton. The union reportedly wants $2.50. This would increase the annual payments from $250 million a year to $750 million. There are scores of other union demands. The operators aren't about to sign on any line dotted by the rank -and -file consensus. So it's up to Miller to bring labor statesmanship to the soft coal industry, a mighty sick one not too long ago. It's healthy now but the operators say paying what the rank and file want would make it a terminal case.

Hovering over the negotiations and the inevitable intermittent strikes will be the threat of silent steel mills and browned -out cities. You need coal to run many utilities and even nuclear power plants. So look homeward not Middle Eastward, if you're really worried by an energy crunch. It could go either way.

Note, please, that the UMW chiefs are urging their followers to set up a "special strike account" in the UMW Federal Credit Union for a possible "two -week strike, four -week strike, eight -week strike, twelve -week strike, sixteen -week strike."

So if winter comes, it could get mighty cold and dark.

WASHINGTON -Watergate Industries held its annual stockholders meeting at the federal courthouse in Washington last week, and Sherlock Springbinder, the chairman ot the board, reported a windfall profit of $2 billion. Watergate Industries is a conglomerate that deals in all aspects of the Watergate affair from providing legal talent to selling memoirs of Watergate personalities.

Mr. Springbinder told the happy stockholders, "The way things are going, Watergate should be one of the best growth stocks of 1974. The legal profession alone has earned $30 million, and very few of the trials have begun. By the time all the indictments are handed down we expect to have 30,000 lawyers working full time on motions. After the trials we will have another 5,000 producing appeals. Estimated net income from this division should bring in $100 million."

There was a great deal of applause.

"Our book division is also showing a great profit. We estimate that everyone involved in Watergate from John Dean to the mail room boy at the Committee for the Re -Election of the President will have a nonfiction or fiction book out by next Christmas. If you include newspapermen, defendants, prosecutors, former White House personnel, former attorneys general, milk producers, ex -CIA men, secretaries and grand jury foremen, we believe there will be 670,000 different books published this year, and the advances alone will come to $20 million in added revenue."

There was more applause.

"The movie rights for Watergate are going very briskly. Robert Redford is working on 'All the President's Men,' and several other movie producers are readying projects, including "Gidget Goes to the Watergate,' 'Last Tango at the White House,' 'The Tapes of Wrath,' 'Lassie at the Supreme Court,' 'The Life of Bebe Rebozo' and 'Confessions of a Jesuit Priest.'

"Watergate Industries has bought four movie studios, and we now have a record division where we intend to produce the hit expletives from the transcripts."

Springbinder continued: "We also plan to go into TV in a big way if the impeachment trial takes place. We will produce Monday Night at the Senate with Howard Cosell and Frank Gifford, to Tell the Truth with Richard Nixon, I've Got a Secret starring Gordon Liddy and the Six Million Dollar Man with Maurice Stans.

"Watergate Industries is happy to announce it is going into the employment agency business, since it is estimated that there will be 345,890 White House aides looking for jobs in the next 12 months.

"Our congressional subpoena printing plant is now working 24 hours a day, and we just received a multimillion -dollar contract from the House Judiciary Committee which whould keep us busy for two more years."

Springbinder got a standing ovation.

"Are there any questions?" he asked.

"Why aren't there more women involved with Watergate?" a militant stockholder shouted from the floor.

Springbinder answered nervously, "It's true that Watergate was strictly a white male affair, with very few exceptions. We tried to find women who could become involved, but there just weren't any who were qualified. Women don't seem to be physiologically or mentally able to cope with all it takes to be a part of a Watergate scandal."

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Milk Scandal Chronology

WASHINGTON --The dairy lobby's $2 million pledge to help re -elect President Nixon was originally timed to influence his decision on dairy import quotas, rather than price support.

The offer was put in writing on December 16, 1970, after the White House hatchetman, Charles Colson, had threatened to "put the screws" to the dairymen for contributing to Democrats.

Two weeks after this written pledge was delivered to the White House, the President adopted the import quotas.

Then the dairy lobby began campaigning for higher price supports, which the White House ordered on March 25, 1971. But before issuing the announcement, according to sworn testimony, the White House demanded a renewal of the $2 million offer.

This is the chronology of the milk scandal, which we have put together from our own investigation. Here are the details:

The milk producers began talking to the White House about campaign contributions in the early autumn of 1970. At a September meeting in Colson's office, the milk producers agreed to put up $10,000 apiece for the Senate races of 11 conservative candidates whom the White House favored.

But the dairy people also contributed to the campaigns of Democrats, who had influence over dairy legislation. When Colson learned about this, he fired off a sharp memo to another White House aide, the late Murray Chotiner, who had been dealing with the milk producers' lawyer, Marion Harrison.

"Would you please check with your friend, Harrison, and tell him if he wants to play both sides, that's one game; if he wants to play our side, it is entirely different," wrote Colson. "This would be a good way for you to condition him before we put the screws to him on imports, which we are about to do."

True to Colson's threat, the White House held up dairy import quotas which the Tariff Commission had recommended. Harrison complained to us that "Colson wanted a one -way street. He wasn't interested in doing anything for our clients."

This upset Harrison and his legal associate, Pat Hillings, who had served briefly as Nixon's successor in the House and had maintained close ties with Nixon. Hillings, therefore, dictated a scorching letter to the President, attacking Colson.

Harrison persuaded him to tone down the letter. The second draft didn't mention Colson, but it reminded the President that the dairymen had contributed "about $135,000 to Republican candidates in the 1970 election" and were now preparing "to contribute $2 million for your re -election."

This was the famous December 15, 1970, letter which put the $2 million dairy pledge in black and white. Hillings said he pulled the $2 million figure "out of the air." It was not intended as a "quid pro quo" he said, but as an "attention getter" to get action for the dairymen.

Colson used the $2 million figure in a memo to President Nixon, however, three months before Hillings put it in writing. In any event, the President adopted the dairy import quota on Jan. 1, 1971, only 15 days after receiving the Hillings letter.

The White House claims that the President never saw the Hillings letter and that the $2 million pledge had nothing to do with his action on imports. The receptant Colson told us that he had sought milk contributions but that he had scolded Harrison and Hillings for linking the money to government action.

The following March, President Nixon, overriding the Agriculture Department, ordered increased milk price supports as well. The public announcement was held up, according to sworn testimony, until the White House received a renewal of the $2 million campaign pledge.

The President's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, who had solicited campaign funds from the milk producers, testified that the public announcement "was, in fact, linked to this reaffirmation of the $2 million pledge."

Meanwhile, Colson sent Chotiner another blistering memo complaining about Harrison and Hillings. "Your friends, Harrison and Hillings, have just run out of string ...with me," wrote Colson. "They are personally abusive --particularly Harrison --not only to -- us but to the secretaries in this office and they're making impossible demands...

"They have so muddied up the present dairy import situation that I almost think there is no way we can help them....I practiced law for ten years in this city and wouldn't think of treating a messenger from GSA the way these guys think they can order the White House around.

"Frankly, in view of the relationship with the dairy industry that is involved, I think that these guys are simply too dangerous to deal with and that they should either be put in their place or cut out of the act altogether.

"They have also refused to help recently in a matter of great importance to us. In sum, they are very, very bad news."

Charleston man bound over

CHARLESTON --Woodrow Anderson of Charleston waived a preliminary hearing Thursday before Magistrate Judge T.J. Brown Jr. and was bound over to Circuit Court on felony charges of burglary and stealing.

Bond for Anderson, who is accused of breaking into a building owned by Owen Stader in Charleston and stealing two cases of laundry detergent, was reduced from $2,5000 to $1,000. He remains in custody in lieu of bond and is scheduled to appear Tuesday in Circuit Court.

A preliminary hearing was scheduled for June 27 for Bobby Tripp of East Prairie, who is charged with felonies of burglary and stealing. Tripp is free on $2,500 bond and is accused of stealing 26 cans of Treflan on May 6 from J.D. Upton.

Attorneys were appointed to represent Willie Dale McMillen and Lloyd Dean of Charleston on felony charges of stealing. Bonds for the two men were set at $5,000 each and they remain in custody. The men are accused of stealing copper wireing from utility poles northeast of Bertrand on June 3. The wiring was the property of the Scott -New Madrid -Mississippi Electric Co -op.

McMillen and Dean were free on $1,000 bonds, posted on prior burglary and larceny charges, at the time of their arrest June 3. The previous bonds were surrendered and the two were returned to custody. Bonds for each on the burglary and larceny charges were reset at $5,000.

Attorneys were appointed Thursday to represent McMillen and Dean on the burglary and larceny charges which stem from the April 20 break -in at a barn owned by W.S. Babb of Charleston and the theft of a five -gallon can of Cobex.

Ronnie McMillen of Charleston, arrested with Dale McMillen and Lloyd Dean, entered a plea of not guilty to the burglary and larceny charges and preliminary hearing was set for June 20. He remains free on $1,000 bond.

Lonnie Edward Schade of Charleston was fined $150 and costs on a driving while intoxicated charge and $50 and costs on a charge of driving while his license are suspended. If Schade does not pay his fines he must serve a 30 -day jail sentence on the first charge and 10 days on the second charge, with sentences to run concurrently.

Henry Vinson was assessed a $150 fine and costs or 30 days in jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated and a $25 fine or 10 days in jail on a charge of no driver's license, with jail sentences to run concurrently if sentences are served.

A 30 -day jail sentence was given Donald Dale Wooldridge of Charleston on a driving while intoxicated charge.

Ethel Sloan was given until Saturday to pay a $26 fine on a charge of violation of the wildlife code or begin serving a five -day jail sentence. Raymond Beck, Larry Crum, Rayetta Crum and Alice Stephenson each paid $26 fines on charges of violation of the wildlife code and a warrant was issued for Erma Brown, who failed to appear on a similar charge.

Warrants for the arrest of Henry Williams of Wyatt, who failed to appear on an improper registration by failure to transfer license charge, and Charles Nathan Rogers of Charleston who failed to appear on a charge of careless and imprudent driving.

Arbery Lee Agnew of rural East Prairie was assessed a $15 fine and costs on a careless and imprudent driving charge and given until Saturday to pay the fine or begin serving a five -day jail sentence.

Other fines assessed included: Homer Terre Barger of Charleston, allowing an unlicensed driver to drive his car, $35; James L. Trendly, disturbing the peace, $32; Thomas L. Stevens of Annapolis, speeding, $35; and Raymond Harris of Wyatt, speeding, $29.

Judge Brown approved an application for limited driving privileges for Vester Vanpool.

Cases continued to June 13 were: Collis Ray Haddock of Bertrand, second offense of driving while intoxicated, driving while operator's license was revoked and leaving the scene of an accident James N. Moore, making false statement to obtain property or credit; Sammy Joseph Bagwell of Poplar Bluff, speeding; James K. Reeves,of Charleston, speeding; Robert Lee Munson of East Prairie, failure to stop at a stop sign; and and account suit for $232.59 brought by Buckner -Ragsdale Co. against A.V. and Ruth Jackson.

The following cases were continued to June 20: Randall Eugene Morse of Mexquite, Tex., speeding; James Randolph Baker of Poplar Bluff, careless and imprudent driving; Fred Kirk Blaza of Vincennes, Ind., speeding; Don Ray Eakins of St. Louis, driving while operator's license was revoked; and John Mark Kressenberg of Paducah, Ky., speeding.

A charge of careless and imprudent driving against Howard Wiley Whitener of Concord, Ark. was continued to July 11, Whitner is accused of driving on the wrong side of the road and causing a fatal accident. A driving while intoxicated charge against Clifford Hugh Vowels of Charleston was continued to Aug. 8.

Default judgment for $75 back rent and possession of premises was awarded Hazel Williams in a suit for possession of property for non -payment of rent brought against Ethel Sloan, who will also pay court costs in the suit.

Earlier this week, John L. Groves was granted limited driving privileges and Raymond C. Bond was fined $14 on a speeding charge.

Not what we have, but what we use, not what we see, but what we choose, these are the things that mar or bless the sum of human happiness. — Joseph Fort Newton, American clergyman.

Puxico woman given sentence

BLOOMFIELD — Connie L. Paris of Puxico was given a 30- day suspended jail sentence and placed on supervised parole fo· six months, after she pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana in Magistrate Court before Judge Koss W. Blomeyer.

The charge was reduced from possession of more than 35 grams of marijuana and of apparatus used in smoking marijuana upon the request of the prosecuting attorney.

The case against Arthur Allison of Chicago, Ill., who is charged with felonious assault and rape of a minor girl under the age of 16, was continued indefinitely until the minor witness for the prosecution can be located.

Doyle Ray Parks of Bloomfield appeared in court on a charge of non- support and paid Mrs. Parks the sum of $50. He was ordered to pay Mrs. Parks the sum of $10 per week and to appear back in court on July 3, to show proof of payment.

The case against Freddy Wiseman, who is charged with tampering with a motor vehicle was continued until June 13. Paul Lincoln Groves, charged with driving while intoxicated, had his case continued until June 20.

Elmer B. Cook was given a 30- day suspended jail sentence and fined $10 for public intoxication.

Steve M. Coffee and Charles R. Ward of Dexter were fined $50 each for possession of intoxicating beverages by a minor.

Rickey L. Nifong entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of failing to stop for a school bus. Trial was set for Thursday

Others paying traffic fines were Roger Edward Stroud of Bloomfield, no operators license, $10, and careless and imprudent driving, $10; and Sharon Fry of Essex, no operator's license, $10.

Paying conservation fines for fishing without a permit were, Peggy Sue Bess, Gregory R. Denning, Betty Jo King and Bobby Earl King. All were fined $5 each. Failing to appear on the same charge was Louis E. Robertson.

Child health conference set

NEW MADRID --A child health conference, sponsored by the New Madrid County Health Department, will be held from 8:30 a.m. to noon Thursday at the Kiwanis Building on Beech Street.

The conference is a continuing service for preschool children who would not otherwise receive such care. All children are given a physical examination, needed immunizations. Permanent records are maintained.

Disease prevention and health education are stressed. When physical abnormalities are found, the child is referred to a family physician for the needed treatment.

REDISCOVERED STEAD NOVEL NOW IN BARD PAPERBACK

"For money," wrote Balzac, "people fight and devour one another like spiders in a pot." The pot, in Christina Stead's brilliant novel HOUSE OF ALL NATIONS, is a private Parisian banking hourse, and the most rapacious spider within its walls is its merciless director, Jules Bertillon. With a bloodless greed he manipulates the bankers, blackmailers, swindlers and playboys who people this rich and intricate novel, until he too is destroyed by the rising tied of economic depression and fascism which signaled the end of a frantic, decadent era, and paved the way for world war.

HOUSE OF ALL NATIONS, first published in hardcover by Simon & Schuster in 1938, was well received by reviewers, many of whom likened the author to Balzac, but it was not until the reissue, in 1965, of Miss Stead's novel THE MAN WHO LOVED CHILDREN, that she was recognized as a major writer. Accordingly, HOUSE OF ALL NATIONS was re-issued in hard-cover by Holt, Rinehart and Winston to a new round of acclaim, and now makes its appearance in a Bard edition paperback, The author's most famous work remains THE MAN WHO LOVED CHILDREN; it is also available in a Bard edition.

HOUSE OF ALL NATIONS by Christina Stead. (Bard 18895. $2.45. 768 pp.)

Kaullens mark 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Kaullen, 122 Maplewood Drive, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary June 1 with a reception hosted by their children -- Mrs. Rita Kerwin of Delia, Kans.; Mrs. Mary Whitfield of Rolling Meadows, Ill.; Mrs. Barbara Marshall of Ste. Geneviewve; and Fred P. Kaullen of San Diego, Calif.

The couple has 22 grandchildren of which 13 were present for the occasion.

The Kaullens were married June 4, 1924 in Immaculate Conception Church in Chicago, Ill.

Their golden wedding celebration began with a mass St. Francis Xavier Church with the Rev. Robert Shumacher officiating.

Organ selections were presented by their granddaughter Marita Kerwin of St. Marys, Kans. She also accompanied her aunt, Mrs. Barbara Marshall as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" during communion.

A marriage banner, especially designed and made by the couple's granddaughter, Jean Kerwin of St. Marys, Kans. was presented for the church service.

A family dinner followed at the El Capri restaurant and the day climaxed with a reception and dance for relatives and friends at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Music was furnished by Danny and the Goldtones.

The serving table was covered with a floor-length gold cloth caught up at the corners with white satin bows.

The three-tiered wedding cake was adorned with white bells and topped with gold numberals "50".

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Kaullen

Silver candelabra hold gold candles interspersed with floral arrangements completed the table decorations.

Misses Janet Kerwin of Delia, Kans. and Ann Marshall of Ste. Genevieve were at the guest book.

Out - of - town guests were: Mrs. Kaullen's sister, Miss Catherine Krier of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Fred P. Kaullen of San Diego, Calif.; Miss Cecilia Whitfield of Rolling Meadows, Ill.; Robert A. Kerwin and Mike, Kevin and Pat of Delia, Kans.

Richard P. Kaullen of Omaha, Neb.; John B. Marshall and Florence, John, Jennifer and Samuel of Ste. Genevieve; Chuck Ronnau of St. Marys, Kans.; Miss Ellen Mooney and Mrs. Doris Mooney of St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Beitel of Fulton; Mr. and Mrs. James Hahn of Cape Girardeau; Mrs. Harold Dawson of New Madrid; and Mrs. Ben F. Marshall Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Marshall and Sally and Ellen of Blodgett.

A few well chosen words say as much as column

BENTON -A few well chosen words often say more than a whole column, so I'm sharing some excerpts and quotes that illustrate my feelings and philosophies. Sources range from ancient philosophers to today's teens.

The purpose of education is to make us a thinker and creator, with an enlarged capacity for life.

Meta communication says that if three people are talking for one and one -half minutes, 10,000 cues are given, but we pick up only 10 per cent of them, because we're just not aware of what real listening is.

Feelings of personal worth grow best in an environment where individual differences are appreciated.

Meanings are not in the words we use, but in the people who use them.

"I am the only me there ever will be," Society tends to define something's value by its scarcity, so each of us are priceless.

How you treat others depends on what you think of yourself.

Awareness is the capacity to see the world in your own way, not in the way you were told to see it.

The greatest challenge of all is to help children preserve their sense of awe and wonder.

Perhaps one of the distinguishing features of a nurturing parent is the realization that change is inevitable, children quickly change from one stage to another, nurturing adults never stop growing and the world around us never stands still.

"Love is a powerful feeling that releases the potential of one person to strive for his dreams without threat of judgement, to momentarily transcend his need for the need of another, to be patient and not lose his feelings of worth as the struggle to find meaning with the other person occurs as bridges between individual differences are built, and while he bears the loneliness that inevitably exists from time to time when each person must, in order to live his own integrity, take separate ways from the other."

You don't get married to complete yourself, you get married because you have something to share.

Each marriage partner will be different in needs, capacities, values, expectations, because he is a different person, not just because one is a husband and the other a wife, according to "Open Marriage."

"Life is not easy for any of us. But what of that? We must believe that we are gifted for something, and that this thing, at whatever cost, must be attained." Madame Curie

To be nobody, but yourself, in a world which is doing its best to make you everybody else, means to fight the hardest battle which any human being can fight, and never stop fighting. E.E. Cummings.

Life is the capability to relate.

Do not try to be anything but what you are, and try to be that perfectly.

Not everything that is faced can be changed, but nothing can be changed until it is faced.

A man is not hurt so much by what happens as by his opinion of what happened.

Maybe, the underlying message of all of these musings is: Do not try to be anything but what you are and try to be that perfectly.

From "Free Children Movement," "If we believe children are the hope of the future, we must let them develop their talents without limits and boundaries, and give them a chance to be themselves."

Ann Landers

Couple argues over names their child will call them

Dear Ann Landers: I an 24 and in my eighth month of pregnancy. My husband and I are having the same argument for the third time, and still we can't get together on a decision. It's over what our child should call us.

Jud was raised in an informal household. He wants the child to call us by our first names. He claims it will remove certain artificial barriers and make the child feel closer to us.

I am against it. I say a child should call his parents Mother and Dad as a matter of respect. Am I right or is Jud? —Nameless

Dear N.: I know parents who trained their children to call them Helen and Jack and the kids turned out just fine. I also know parents who insisted that their children call them Mother and Dad and the kids are plenty messed up.

It's not what your children call you, but how they feel about you that matters. Personally, I prefer Mother and Dad because it helps put the relationship in the proper perspective. Children can have a great many pals, but they can have only one Mother and Dad.

Dear Ann Landers: I've done a great deal of reading, but I've seen nothing on "The Dangers of Marrying an Only Child." If I don't find a book on this subject soon, I just might write one myself.

Why is it that of all the columns written by Ann Landers, you have never dealt with this problem? It exists, you know. I married a woman who is living proof.

The only child desperately needs to be right all the time. Also there's a total disregard for punctuality. The only child is rarely on time. 'I'll be there in a minute," can mean anything from 30 minutes to an hour later.

The "Me First, Mine" syndrome is especially noticeable in the child who never had to share with a brother or sister. The singleton tends to be a joyous receiver but a very poor giver.

My advice to anyone who is considering marriage to an only child is, DON'T. -- Massachusetts Reader

Dear Mass.: Sorry, I don't buy it. I have known only children who have none of the qualities described in your letter, but these same qualities are painfully apparent in children who come from large families.

Generalizations are often wrong. And this one most certainly is.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl, 16, who hasn't too many things to complain about compared with some of the letters I read in your column.

One little thing does bother me a lot and I'd like your opinion. My best friend hangs around with me because she is nutty about my brother. She has told me several times that she's really crazy about Tex and asks a zillion questions about what goes on in his life.

I don't want to lose her friendship, but I hate being used. What do you think I should do? -- Ambivalent in Canada

Dear Am: If all girls who hung around certain friends because they were nutty about their brothers were lined up, they'd reach from Toronto to Quebec City.

This is the oldest story in the world, and usually the brother is on to it. Such girls are viewed as pests if they hang around too much. Most brothers would rather chase then be chased.

What's prudish? What's O. K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet; "Necking and Petting --What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, O. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope.

—Births—

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Sitzes of Route One are parents of their second daughter born at 2:38 a.m. May 21 in Missouri Delta Community Hospital. The girl weighed eight pounds three ounces and has been named Niki Lynn.

Mrs. Sitzes is the former Sandra Byrd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Byrd Sr. of Route Four. Sitzes, a farmer, is the son of Mrs. Robert J. Sitzes, 903 Hawthorne Drive, and the late Robert J. Sitzes.

BUTLER — Sgt. and Mrs. Steve Butler, stationed with the Air Force at Iraklion, on the island of Crete, are parents of their first child, a daughter, born June 1 in U.S. Air Force Hospital in Wiesbaden, Germany. The girl has been named Stephanie Dawn.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Warner of St. Louis, and paternal grandparents are the Rev. and Mrs. C. D. Butler of Senath, formerly of Sikeston. Great grandmother is Mrs. Charles H. Butler of Hot Springs, Ark.

Dr. Albert G. Lemmons

PARAGOULD, Ark. — Albert G. Lemmons, 38, president of Crowley's Ridge College in Paragould, recently received a doctor of ministry degree from Rice Seminary in Jacksonville, Fla.

Dr. Lemmons is the son of Mrs. Arch Lemmons of Bell City, Mo., Route One and graduated from Bell City High School in 1955.

He then attended Freed-Hardeman College at Henderson, Tenn., where he earned an associate of arts degree. His senior college work was at Harding College in Searcy, where he received a bachelor of arts degree in 1958. He obtained a master of arts degree from Harding in 1961 and earned a master of religious education degree from Harding Graduate School in Memphis, Tenn., in 1966.

During 22 years of preaching, Dr. Lemmons has conducted more than 200 meetings in over 20 states and has been minister for churches of Christ in Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, Florida and Texas.

From 1965 to 1971, he served as assistant to the president of Freed-Hardeman College and professor of bible and his background includes professional training in public relations, fund-raising, administration and classroom instruction.

Dr. Lemmons is married to the former Patsy Davenport of Chattanooga, Tenn. They have five children, Darla, Gary, Stephen, John and Leigh Ann. Dr. Lemmons became president of Crowley's Ridge College on March 1, 1973, after completing classroom work toward his doctor's degree at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth, Tex.

Since assuming the leadership of Crowley's Ridge Academy and College he has worked with the board of trustees and Chancellor Emmett Smith to retire a $1 million bonded indebtedness against the schools. Under his leadership, several areas of service in both the academy and college have been strengthened. Additional improvements are planned in the near future.

He has given time to teaching Bible courses both on the campus and in extension work. Also, he has been active in weekend preaching appointments, gospel meetings, lectureships and workshops and presently serves as interim minister at Slicer Street Church of Christ in Kennett, Mo.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

138. David Escapes from Saul

Saul urged his servants and even his son Jonathan to kill David. Because Jonathan was David's truest friend, he told David of his father's intention, and asked him to hide in the fields where he could hear Saul respond to a plea for David's life. The next day, Jonathan successfully begged his father to spare David.

So David returned and served Saul as he had done before. But one day Saul hurled his spear at David, who stepped aside and fled. Saul sent messengers to watch David's house and slay him the next morning. However, Michal, David's wife, told him to flee, and she let him down through a window, and he escaped during the night.

Michal placed an image in David's bed so the messengers would not know David had fled. The following morning Michal told the soldiers that David was ill. Saul ordered David's bed brought in so that he could himself kill his son-in-law. When the disguise was discovered, the enraged Saul asked his daughter why she protected David. "...And Michal answered Saul, He said unto me, Let me go; why should I kill thee?"

CARNEGIE GETTING ELECTRONIC ORGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — A 10-year study about the need for an organ at Carnegie Hall has resulted in the installation during July and August of a five-manual electronic organ. It will be inaugurated at a recital by Virgil Cox Oct. 1.

Earlier attempts to create a large pipe organ for Carnegie Hall were canceled when it was decided that the stage would have to be altered to house it, altering the famed acoustics of the hall.

During 1974-75 there will be a first International Organ Series.

Giants shoot down Birds in 'breeze'

The San Francisco Giants won in a breeze Thursday. Literally.

Aided by the well-known Candlestick Park wind, the Giants scored seven runs in the fourth inning and went on to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 9-5.

"Candlestick is by far the toughest park to play outfield in the National League," said St. Louis center fielder Lis Melendez.

He lost a fly ball in the wind during that wild fourth inning and it cost the Cardinals three runs. Frustrated over Gary Matthews' wind-blown double with the bases loaded, Melendez noted: "All you can go by is the sound of the ball hitting the bat. It sounded hard hit, so I started back. But the wind held it up and I ran as hard as I could but couldn't get to it."

The wind also pestered St. Louis starter Lynn McGlothen, who held a 3-0 lead until he was blown out in the fourth.

"I had great stuff and when I got that 3-0 lead, I thought I was in control," said McGlothen, a former American Leaguer making his first appearance in Candlestick's wind cavern. "But I just couldn't adjust to the wind. I felt like I had a good, live fastball, but the wind was moving it two or three feet."

In the other National League games, the New York Mets nudged the Cincinnati Reds 4-3; the Houston Astros beat the Montreal Expos 4-0; the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0 and the Chicago Cubs beat the San Diego Padres 5-1.

Mets 4, Reds 3

John Milner hit a tremendous leadoff home run against reliever Pedro Borbon in the eighth inning, lifting New York over Cincinnati.

Astros 4, Expos 0

Lee May hit two bases-empty home runs and Larry Dierker pitched a three-hitter, pacing Houston over Montreal.

Dodgers 6, Pirates 0

Andy Messersmith pitched his second straight shutout with a five-hitter and Ron Cey blasted a two-run homer, leading Los Angeles over Pittsburgh.

Messersmith, 6-1, permitted only five singles while running his scoreless inning streak to 18.

Cubs 5, Padres 1

Don Kessinger and Rick Monday each knocked in two runs to help Chicago and left-hander Ken Frailing beat San Diego.

American League scores: New York 5, Chicago 1; Milwaukee 9, California 7 and Texas 6, Cleveland 2.

Big 8 signs 4-year Orange Bowl pact

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The football champion of the Big Eight Conference will play in the Orange Bowl four consecutive years starting with the 1976 game.

The Big Eight and the Orange Bowl Committee announced the signing of the fouryear pact Thursday. The contract does not prohibit one school from playing in the Miami, Fla., classic two or more consecutive years.

A conference representative will select a team to play in the bowl game in event of a tie for the championship. Big Eight teams not competing in the Orange Bowl will be allowed to play in other postseason games.

In all, Big Eight teams have appeared in the Orange Bowl 21 times and won 11. The Big Eight and Orange Bowl had four previous contracts between 1954 and 1964.

Of the new contract, Big Eight Commissioner Charles M. Neinas said the conference regards "this as a very fine opportunity. The conference championship, which is the goal of every Big Eight team, now takes on even more importance with an additional reward for winning the title."

SeMo State completes grid staff

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — The football coaching staff of incoming Jim Lohr has been completed at Southeast Missouri State University with the naming of Chris George to coach linebackers and defensive backs.

George, who coached the past two seasons at Maplewood - Richmond Heights High School in St. Louis County, was named to the post Wednesday.

His high school teams compiled a 13-5 record. He is a graduate of Beaumont High School in St. Louis and Southwest Missouri State University.

Saluki world record-holders

Southern Illinois University is rapidly becoming the home of world records. Suluki record -holders, from left, are Ivory Crockett, 100 -yard dash (:09.1); Bill Hancock, decathlon high jump (7 -1); and George Woods, a Sikeston High School product, shot put (72 -2 ¾).

Crockett SIU's third world record-holder

CARBONDALE, Ill. --When Ivory Crockett broke the world record in the 100 -yard dash recently, it caught all but a few friends off guard.

Among those who were expecting Crockett to eclipse the world sprint barrier were his friends, former coach and teammates at Southern Illinois University.

Crockett's 09.0 timing for 100 yards made the two -time AAU sprint champ, the third past or present Saluki athlete to enter the world record book. George Woods, the NCAA indoor shot put champion at SIU in 1966 from Sikeston, Mo. broke the world record with a 72 foot, 2¾ -inch effort Feb. 9. And Bill Hancock, a Saluki junior from Glasford, Ill., set the world record in the decathlon high jump at seven foot , one inch in the 1973 Kansas Relays.

"The world record caught a lot of people off guard," said Crockett, who works for International Business Machines at Peoria, Ill. "I was ready for it. My wife was ready for it. My coach was ready for it. But the media wasn't ready for it."

On a rainy May 11th at Knoxville, Tenn., Crockett turned in his world record mark, a full two -tenths of a second better than the existing standard of :09.2 set first by Bob Hayes and equally by five others.

"I knew the little guy could do it," said Saluki track coach Lew Hartzog who recruited Crockett out of Webster Groves, Mo., in 1968. "He has worked so hard. When he ran for us he was an unselfish team man.

"I honestly believe the reason he did not make the 1972 United States Olympic team was his dropping the baton in the 440 relay at the NCAA meet. Many lesser athletes would have said 'Oh well, I'm still in the 100,' But not Ivory. He felt he had let three other guys down. And he let it affect performances the rest of that summer," Hartzog recalled.

Crockett hasn't let anything hamper his performances this year. His attitude is similar to that when he was a Saluki.

"My goal was to run the best race I could everytime I ran," said Crockett. "I never wanted anyone to say I gave it less than my very best."

While Crockett arrived destined for greatness, Woods came to Southern Illinois from Sikeston with a hazy future.

"We didn't know until George's sophomore year what his best event would be" Hartzog recalled. "He was a shot putter, but he ran on our relays as a freshman."

Woods, who now works in the admission's offie at SIU's Edwardsville campus, graduated with a 62 -foot lifetime best. Eight years later, after a strenuous weight -training program, Woods has emerged as the best shot putter in history.

Of the three world record holders, Hartzog thinks Hancock has the best potential. He has scored 7,419 points in the decathlon on what Hartzog calls "routine performances. His future is unlimited."

Track isn't the only sport where the Salukis excel. Southern Illinois' basketball program gained national prominence in 1967 when Walt Frazier let the Salukis to the NIT championship.

Brewers' pinch hit drouth ends

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In Milwaukee pinch hitters are as popular as prohibitionists ... and about as successful.

But that was before Mike Hegan.

Hegan, a newcomer to the Milwaukee bench, laced a two run pinch single Thursday, the first successful Brewer pinch hit in 24 attempts this season, and the Brewers dumped the California Angels 9-7.

Elsewhere in an abbreviated American League schedule, the Texas Rangers dropped the Cleveland Indians 6-2 and the New York Yankees downed the Chicago White Sox 5-1.

In a pinch, the last person you'd call on would be a Milwaukee pinch hitter. But California Manager Bobby Winkles left the Brewers little choice.

"I knew they didn't have any right-handed hitters left on the bench but (Bob) Collucio," said Winkles, explaining why he replaced right-hand pitcher Skip Lockwood for lefty John Cumberland in the seventh inning. "I knew Collucio had been hurt and I wasn't sure he was able to hit."

Milwaukee Manager Del Crandall, who later confirmed that Collucio was unable to hit, was forced to send up the lefthand hitting Hegan.

He said his teammates "told me he has a big breaking ball, so I tried to lean up to the plate," said Hegan, recently acquired from the New York Yankees. With their advice, he got his hit.

Rangers 6, Indians 2

Jackie Brown threw a curveballing seven-hitter at the Cleveland Indians, supported by Alex Johnson, who knocked in four runs, two in a three-run Texas seventh.

Yankees 5, White Sox 1

George Medich scattered 10 hits and the Yankees deprived former teammate Stan Bahnsen of his 100th major league victory in his fifth straight unsuccessful bid.

Schlee says opening round 66 was in stars

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Curly haired John Schlee wasn't surprised that he shot a six-under-par 66 to take the lead after one round of the $150,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic. It was in the stars.

Schlee, 35, an avid student of astrology, hasn't been playing too well this year on the pro golf tour. He is 66th on the money winning list at $20,119 and his best has been a tie for 11th at San Diego.

"I had a bad astrological aspect between Neptune and my rising sign, Aquarius. Neptune is a very slow moving planet. It kind of boggles the mind. It makes it very hard to concentrate," Schlee explained.

The 6-foot-3 Schlee, who describes himself as "the defending runner-up" in next week's U.S. Open, said he has been bored, lackadaisical, unable to concentrate. "At the Masters for example I was eight under on the front side for the tournament and eight over on the backside," Schlee said.

So what's different now at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club? The bad astrological aspects are gone now, Schlee explained. "It left two weeks ago. June has always been a good month for me. I'm a Gemini."

It was in June last year that Schlee started the final round of the U.S. Open at Oakmont tied for the lead. He finished second when Johnny Miller fired a course record 63 to win.

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 7, the 158th day of 1974. There are 207 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, the Pacific War battle of Midway ended in a major American victory over the Japanese.

On this date:

In 1654, the coronation of Louis the 14th as King of France took place at Rheims.

In 1769, Daniel Boone began his exploration of the Kentucky wilderness.

In 1862, the United States and Britain signed a treaty for suppression of the slave trade.

In 1864, President Abraham Lincoln was renominated by a Republican convention in Baltimore.

In 1940, in World War II, organized resistance against German invaders ended in Norway.

In 1967, in the Middle East Six-Day War, Israeli forces drivinginto Egypt reached the banks of the Suez Canal.

Ten years ago: A U.S. Navy plane escorting reconnaissance aircraft over central Laos was shot down by Communist-led forces. It was the second American plane downed in two days.

Five years ago: The military government in Greece said it had quashed a plot by highranking retired army officers to overthrow the regime.

One year ago: West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, on a visit to Israel, denounced what he called the suffering and horror of the Nazi prosecution of Jews.

Today's birthdays: Singer Tom Jones is 34 years old. Poet Gwendolyn Brooks is 57. Violinist Jaime Laredo is 33.

Thought for today: In Faith and Hope the world will disagree, but all mankind's concern is Charity — Alexander Pope, English poet, 1688-1744.

New Hamburg tops Scott City, 8-1

NEW HAMBURG– The New Hamburg Falstaffs climbed over the .500 mark for the season Wednesday by pounding out a solid 8 -1 triumph over Scott City in SeMo Softball League combat on the home field.

Ken Cargle let New Hamburg's victory attack with three of nine total hits. The Falstaffs broke the ice with three runs in the third inning to wipe out a 1 -0 Scott City lead, then added four markers in the fifth and two final tallies in the seventh to boost their season record to 4 -3.

Scott City's lone run came in the second, as New Hamburg's Orville Enderle limited the visitors to three hits, one a triple by Larry O'Brian. Enderle also struck out five and walked only one. Kirby, the losing hurler, fanned four and issued the same number of walks.

New Hamburg will return to action tonight with another home game against Sikeston, weather permitting.

Oran rallies for 4-3 softball win

CAPE GIRARDEAU --Oran pushed the tying and winning runs across the plate in the top of the seventh inning Wednesday for a 4 -3 victory over the Cape Girardeau Jets in SeMo Softball League action.

The Jets had taken a 2 -0 lead in the first inning and held the upper hand most of the game until Oran's winning rally in the seventh.

Oran matched the Cape team's first two runs with single tallies in the second and fourth frames, but the 2 -2 tie was brief as the Jets came back with a run in the botton of the fourth for a 3 -2 lead they held until the seventh.

Robert was the winning pitcher for Oran, in relief of starter Schott whom he replaced on the mound in the fourth. Together they limited Cape to six hits and struck out three.

Meanwhile, Dirnberger, Metz and Dannenmueller cracked two hits apiece and T. Halter drilled a triple to spark Oran's nine -hit assault and pin the mound defeat on Eckert, who led the losers at the plate with two hits and struck out seven Oran batters.

Indoor bowhunting opens

Indoor bowhunting competition began Tuesday at Six Gold Archery Lanes, 603 Davis Blvd. Bow hunters shot rounds at simulated deer, bobcat, and weasel targets from various positions and distances.

The competition is the beginning of the Fred Bear Sports Club -Archery Lane Operators Association Indoor Bowhunter Round. The hunter's round method helps bowhunters make accurate shot placements; according to Six Gold manager Bruce Tanner. He says hunters in the league should be able to shoot well by the time of the archery deer season beginning Oct. 1.

The ice cream sundae, one of today's most popular ice cream desserts, was born in Evanston, Illinois because of a strange law. When a law was passed forbidding the sale of ice cream sodas on Sunday, local merchants got around it by serving ice cream with just syrup. The "sodaless soda" came to be known as a "Sunday" but then objections arose naming a dessert after the Lord's Day, so it became known as a sundae, but it, like the soda, was not banned.

Something that homemakers like more than an ice cream sundae, a Miracle Water Refiner, was born not because of any law, but to create clean, refreshing sparkling water throughout your home. The Miracle Water Refiner not only softens, it cleans, removes taste and odor such as chlorine and it filters your water as well. Once you see and enjoy the difference, you will never want to go back to ordinary tap water. Your cooked foods will taste better, your floors and walls will sparkle, your laundry will smell fresher, be softer and cleaner. Call Braswell and find out more about this modern wonder today.

Watch what happens...

Your family, like most, is experiencing a little pinch with the high cost of living. Your idea has been to round up a number of items around the house that you no longer need, but which you know would be valuable and useful to someone else.

And your idea now is to call the Classified Department and place an ad offering these items for sale.

Now . . . watch what happens!

In a day's time you'll begin receiving phone calls from people interested in buying the things you no longer need. And before you know it, you'll have that little extra cash in your hand we can all use.

That's exactly how it happens to lots and lots of homemakers . . . every day!

Bond to speak at dedication of Kennett center

KENNETT -- Gov. Christopher S. Bond will the principal speaker at dedication ceremonies Thursday for the Southeast Missouri Community Metal Health Center in Kennett.

The special ceremony, marking the first -year anniversary of the center's opening and the completion of a major $2.5 million expansion program at Dunklin County Memorial Hospital, will be held at 3 p.m. on the grounds of the county medical facility.

Arrangements for the Governor's visit to Kennett were completed by hospital officials. Gov. Bond will deliver an address at the ceremony, which will feature tours and an open house at the hospital and mental health unit.

Officials from throughout the area served by the mental facility will be invited to attend the special ceremony, as well as state and area officails and legislators.

Gov. Bond will be in Southeast Missouri during much of the day. Present plans call for him to speak at a Poplar Bluff Jaycee meeting following the dedication ceremonies at Kennett. His speech in Kennett will focus on public health care.

Taking part in Thursday's ceremonies will be John Howell, chairman of the hospital's board of trustees, Administrator Dale Christian, other members of the board of trustees, and the Rev. Paul Harland.

Christian, who is handling details of the ceremony, emphasized that the public is invited to attend and take part in the hospital -center tours and open house.

In the event of rain, the dedication ceremony will be held at the American Legion Building.

Unemployment claims spliced

JEFFERSON CITY --Claims for unemployment insurance were down from the April figures, reflecting a seasonal trend of higher employment during summer months, according to William S. Harris, director of the Missouri Division of Employment Security.

Harris said continued claims totaled 155,295 in May, down more than 24,000 from April. Initial claims were up slightly over last month as the result of labor disputes in the construction industry.

Benefits payments in May, according to Harris, totaled $8,207,617, compared to $8,123,351 in April. The average benefit checks in May was $53.97.

Unemployment insurance benefits for May included Cape Girardeau, $113,942; Caruthrsville, $25,404; Kennett, $41,233; Poplar Bluff, $129,693; and Sikeston, $122,717.

State could save bundle yearly on auto plates

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A switch in the method of putting reflectorizing material on auto license plates could save the state $600,000 a year, Revenue Department officials contend.

Revenue Director James R. Spradling has called a hearing June 18 to discuss the possible change with Raymond P. Hogg, director of Prison Industries, and Highway Patrol Supt. Sam S. Smith.

Prison Industries, which makes 6 million plates a year, is ready to order a new shipment of metal and sheets of reflectorizing material.

For the current plates which have a light, reflectorized background with dark lettering, the cost is 13 cents per plate.

For a glass-beaded process with raised, reflectorized lightcolored lettering on a non-reflectorized dark background, the cost would be 3 cents a plate, said Russell Sloan, assistant revenue director in charge of motor vehicle licensing.

Studies have shown, Sloan said, that identification at night is better with the reflectorized letters and numbers. Studies also have shown in Virginia, he said, that the accident rate is about the same with reflectorized plates as opposed to non-reflectorized plates.

Reflectorized plates have been used in Missouri since 1969 and the 3 M Co., has held the contract. The 1969 law says either the numbers or the background can be reflectorized.

If the department goes to the new plates, Sloan said, they first would be used on trucks and probably wouldn't be sold to car owners until next year.

The order for 6 million plates that were not reflectorized at all ran to $69,000, Sloan said, compared with $808,000 for the current plates and $200,000 under the proposed change.

The current method was approved in 1969 by former Revenue Director James Schaffner, former Highway Patrol Supt. E. I. Hockaday and former Prison Industries Director Arthur O. Williams.

Sloan said he didn't know whether the former officials were aware of the less expensive method.

Lt. Col. Dick Gehrig, assistant Highway Patrol superintendent, said the patrol has no preference and would accept either method. He and Smith have seen samples of the new plates.

The safety and identification factor was a controversy in the legislature in 1969 and finally, legislators decided to let the three state officials select the reflectorizing method. The cost of the plates were increased 50 cents apiece to help pay for the reflectorizing material.

Dale Findlay, executive director of the Missouri Safety Council, said most states reflectorize the entire license plate and he prefers that system.

"It makes the plate more visible at night for safety and identification," he said.

He said the "beads on paint" method, with just reflectorized lettering, tends to pick up dirt and grime, obsuring the letters and numbers.

"I think it wise that they evaluate it carefully before switching," he said.

Under the current system, the reflectorized sheeting is applied, the letters and numbers are stamped in the plate and the plates are painted and baked. Then the numbers are painted on and the plates are baked again.

Under the new process, which takes a few more steps in the prison license plate factory, the black metal is painted and baked. Then the numerals are stamped and painted.

The reflectorizing beads are sprinkled onto the wet paint on the numerals, and the plates are baked. A clear coat seal is applied and the plates are baked again.

The savings would be in the amount of reflectorizing material needed. Hogg said the inmates could handle either process although more work would be involved in the reflecterized lettering process, proposed by the Flex-O-Lite Co. of St. Louis.

World news in brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — A visibly angry federal judge said today President Nixon's refusal to live up to an agreement over access by John D. Ehrlichman to files he left behind in the White House is "totally offensive" and "borders on obstruction."

The comment from U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell came at the end of a 2 1/2-hour hearing, ordered by Gesell, that could lead to a contempt citation against the President.

Gesell adjourned the session saying that he intends to write an order and opinion bearing on Nixon's refusal to yield documents subpoenaed by Ehrlichman.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon considered giving lie detector tests to several hundred thousand federal employes during a 1971 hunt for security leaks, says a House Judiciary Committee source. In a taped presidential conversation heard by the committee, Nixon reportedly discussed giving the tests to all employes with a security classification, estimated then to be 300,000. There is no evidence they ever were administered.

WASHINGTON (AP) — During the 1960s, the United States conducted a crash program to beat the Russians in putting a man on the moon. Now, American space officials have evidence that the Soviets never were in the race. Their manned spaceship, the Soyuz, has less capability than the U.S. Gemini craft of a decade ago. It is almost totally controlled from the ground and could not make a lunar trip.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A substantial proportion of the 979 Soviet officials assigned inside the United States have been identified as intelligence operatives, FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says. Kelley said the Soviet Union continues to carry on an intensive political, military and economic intelligence gathering effort in the United States. He said the FBI is reassigning more agents in an attempt to counter the intelligence operatives.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The FBI hunted fugitive heiress Patricia Hearst today as a suspected bank robber after her indictment in the April holdup of a San Francisco bank by the Symbionese Liberation Army. The armed robbery indictment returned by a federal grand jury Thursday in U.S. District Court changed Miss Hearst's status in the April 15 holdup from material witness to suspected felon.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bail was set at million today for a teen-ager charged in the abduction of a socialite who was released unharmed four hours after she was kidnaped Thursday. Authorities said $60,000 in ransom money was recovered. The FBI was searching for two others wanted in the abduction of Mrs. Jack M. Friedland, 43, from her suburban estate. Frank Wyatt Jr., 18, the son of Philadelphia policeman, was taken into custody while walking down a South Philadelphia street after the ransom was paid.

NEW YORK (AP) — Most of the nation's major oil companies are dipping into their record profits to boost employe salaries. One company is giving workers a bonus of a month's salary. An Associated Press survey shows that Exxon, Mobil, Standard of California, Continental, Standard of Indiana, Shell, Atlantic Richfield, Union and Mobil are raising the paychecks of nonunion U.S. employes. Some are offering the boosts to union employes as well.

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — A tornado ripped through this east Arkansas town of 12,500, causing deaths, scores of injuries and widespread damage. Early reports from officials on the death toll ranged from two to eight.

Tips offered to insure safety of youngsters

JEFFERSON CITY - Col. Sam S. Smith, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol today reminded drivers that schools have been dismissed for the summer and children will be near or on every street in every city in Missouri.

Drivers can help insure youngsters a happy and carefree summer vacation by accepting their responsibility in the safety of children, he said.

The patrol superintendent noted rules that drivers should follow in regard to the safety of youngsters in traffic:

Be alert for children in all residential areas, at all times of the day.

Use extra caution when a young bicyclist is in the traffic picture. He or she may turn into your traffic lane without warning.

Be watchful for children when wagons and other toys are seen near the side of the road. The sound of shouts and laughter can also serve as a warning to drivers that youngsters are close by.

Expect the unexpected. It's not unusual for a child to suddenly dart into traffic from between parked cars.

"It is very distressing to hear of a child being killed or injured in a collision with a motor vehicle," Colonel Smith concluded. "I urge drivers to observe all the rules applicable to the safety of our young citizens this summer."

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat, corn and soybean futures were relatively strong in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

On the opening, Chicago wheat was 1 to 5 cents a bushel higher, July 3.65; Gulf hard red wheat was not traded; corn was 2 to 3 1/2 higher, July 2.78; oats were 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, July 1.36 and soybeans were unchanged to 3 3/4 higher, July 5.39 1/2.

Benefit cut-off opposed

WASHINGTON D.C. -- Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton has introduced legislation to prevent any cutoff June 30 of food stamp benefits to aged, blind, and disabled Supplemental Security Income recipients.

Eagleton said that if congress takes no action prior to June 30, inequitable and administratively cumbersome provisions of the Agriculture and consumer Protection Act of 1973 will go into effect July 1.

Eagleton said this law would have the general effect of disqualifying those SSI recipients with the lowest incomes. "It would be a most unfortunate result for thousands of low-income aged, blind, and disabled persons who, in these inflationary times, need and deserve every bit of assistance they can get," Eagleton told the senate.

The Eagleton proposal, introduced in the form of an amendment to the public debt limit bill, would extend for an additional nine months the present provisions in Missouri and 44 other states. SSI recipients are now ineligible in California, Massacusetts, Nevada, New York, and Wisconsin, which had previously agreed to provide cash payments in lieu of food stamps.

The public debt limit bill, now pending before the Senate Finance Committee, must be signed into law by July 1.

4 treated

Four accidents patients were treated Thursday in the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Treated were: Raburn Evans, 20, Sikeston, ran right arm through glass door; Ramona Fitchpatrick, 19, Sikeston, injured in car accident; Thomas Linley, 21, East Prairie, cut left hand at work; and Harold Graviett, 28, Vanduser, sprained left wrist playing ball.

LOOK TO CBS FOR FAMILY SPECIALS

CBS TELEVISION NETWORK AND CTW PRODUCTIONS, SUBSIDIARY OF CHILDREN'S TELEVISION WORKSHOP, TO DEVELOP PRIME-TIME FAMILY SPECIALS

The CBS Television Network and CTW Productions, Inc., a subsidiary of the Children's Television Workshop, today announced a long- term exclusive arrangement for the development of prime- time family dramatic specials.

According to the Children's Television Workship, CTW/P is expected to be a profit- making subsidiary and all revenues derived from it will revert to the non- profit parent company to defray costs of their other educationally- oriented television programming.

The specials are expected to be all- family in appeal, as was the case with such well- received CBS Television Network dramas as "The House Without a Christmas Tree," "A Thanksgiving Treasure," "The Homecoming" and various special episodes of "The Waltons."

GAME—OF—WEEK

The California Angels, whose strong- armed pitching staff leads the American League in strikeouts, and the Detroit Tigers, with Al Kaline closing in on 3,000 hits, meet at Tiger Stadium Saturday, June 8, in NBC Television Network's Major League Baseball Game- of-the- Week starting at 1 p.m. CDT.

NBC-TV's Monday Night Baseball colorcast June 10, featuring celebrity guest Dick Williams, pits two junior circuit clubs that Williams managed to pennants -- the Oakland Athletics and the Boston Red Sox at Boston's Fenway Park. Game time is 7:15 p.m. CDT, following "The Baseball World of Joe Garagiola" which starts at 8.

Curt Gowdy and Tony Kubek will be in the NBC broadcast booth both Saturday afternoon and Monday night. Jim Simpson and Maury Wills will do the backup contests: Saturday's will match the Minnesota Twins and New York Yankees at Shea Stadium, with the Philadelphia Phillies meeting Houston in the Astrodome Monday evening.

The Tigers, in the thick of things in the tight AL East, are a veteran ball club with the likes of Kaline, Norm Cash, Mickey Lolich, Bill Freehan and Jim Northrup. California, its mound corps headed by flamethrowing Nolan Ryan and Bill Singer, has another sure- fire Hall of Famer in designated hitter Frank Robinson.

The A's, World Champs the past two years under Williams, who resigned last fall in an ill- fated attempt to take over the Yankees, are led this season by hot- hitting Reggie Jackson and the always reliable pitching of Jim "Catfish" Hunter. Boston, managed to a pennant by Williams in 1967, has been beset by a rash of early-season injuries but still has been a pace- setter in the East.

KOJACK: A SURPRISE WINNER THAT BEAT THE TV ODDS

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The returns are all in and the ballots have been counted. There's no longer any doubt — the biggest hit of the '73-'74 TV season, by far, is CBS' Kojak. It couldn't have happened to a more surprising show.

SAVALAS AS KOJACK: He's got to believe.

The Telly Savalas series was in the Top Ten most of the season and hit the No. 1 spot several times. And all this for a show which started out with two strikes against it.

One was a real strike — the writers' strike of last fall which delayed all the new shows, but particularly Kojak. Because of that it was the last new show to hit the home screen last season, not appearing until the end of October.

The other strike against Kojak was the fact that its star was an unlikely leading man. Telly Savalas is far from handsome, not young, completely bald. And yet there seems to be something about him — and his show — the public adores.

One problem Kojak faced was that, by the time it got on the air, there already had been a dozen or so cop shows holding forth in the TV precincts. Maybe that turned out to be in its favor. At the time it seemed an insurmountable handicap. The public had already gotten acquainted with cops and private eyes in all shapes, sizes and colors.

But what Kojak had, as it turned out, was something the others didn't have — quality. It sprang from a first-rate movie-for-TV, "The Marcus-Nelson Murders," which was good enough to have been a theatrical feature.

"Kojak is honest," Savalas says. "If some hood has a gun, Kojak will go hide somewhere. If Kojak sees a prostitute on the street, he'll kick her in the rear and tell her to get lost. He'll behave like a real cop behaves, not like some of these TV cop Boy Scouts."

To Savalas, honesty is the key thing in any part he does. He won't accept roles he doesn't believe in. For a long time, he wouldn't consider taking a series lead, but they more or less tricked him into the Kojak deal.

"They did it sneaky," he says. "There was a contingency thing in my contract for 'The Marcus-Nelson Murders.' That forced me to do it if it became a series. I didn't want to do it. I hoped it wouldn't sell. I like variety too much.

"I also like the insecurity of not knowing what I'm going to be doing next week. Being in a series is too secure a life. My father made a million in the tobacco business, then lost it and piled his five kids in a truck and peddled cakes. He was happy broke. So were we."

Telly enjoyed the gamble of an actor's insecure life. Now, despite himself, he's saddled with security. It looks like he's going to be a rich man. Kojak seems to be headed for a long and prosperous run.

Host, 'Wizard of Odds' Monday- Fridays, NBC Television Network

Alex Trebek, 33- year - old Canadian bachelor, has been one of Canada's top television personalities since 1961.

A native of Sudbury, Ontario, Canada, he holds a B.A. from the University of Ottowa with a major in philosophy (1960).
